Morristown High School
Volume 51, 1968
Morristown, Tennessee

Perhaps no other age has been more concerned with the importance of communication than our own. Man's happiness is directly influenced by the effectiveness of his attempts to communicate to others his values, his feelings, and his ideologies. Nations attempt to communicate with other nations; individuals, with other individuals; and one generation, with another generation. As we endeavor to understand the precepts of an adult world, we may discard or amend our present ethics. The end result will be a future adult generation which will determine the course of human destiny. The 1968 ITAKHA, in its revelations of the many ways youth strive for understanding, knowledge, values, and purpose through communication, will fulfill its intended purpose as the "voice" of Morristown High School.

Relaxing at home, Barbara Lowry spends many enjoyable hours talking to friends on the telephone.

Preparing assignments, Sue Harmon, Ricky Hart, Judy Stubblefield, Libby Bible, and Steve Ailey find the atmosphere of the public library conducive to study.

The Hurricane Band conveys spirit to the Morristown High School student body.

On ITAKHA presentation day, students always take time out to sign annuals.

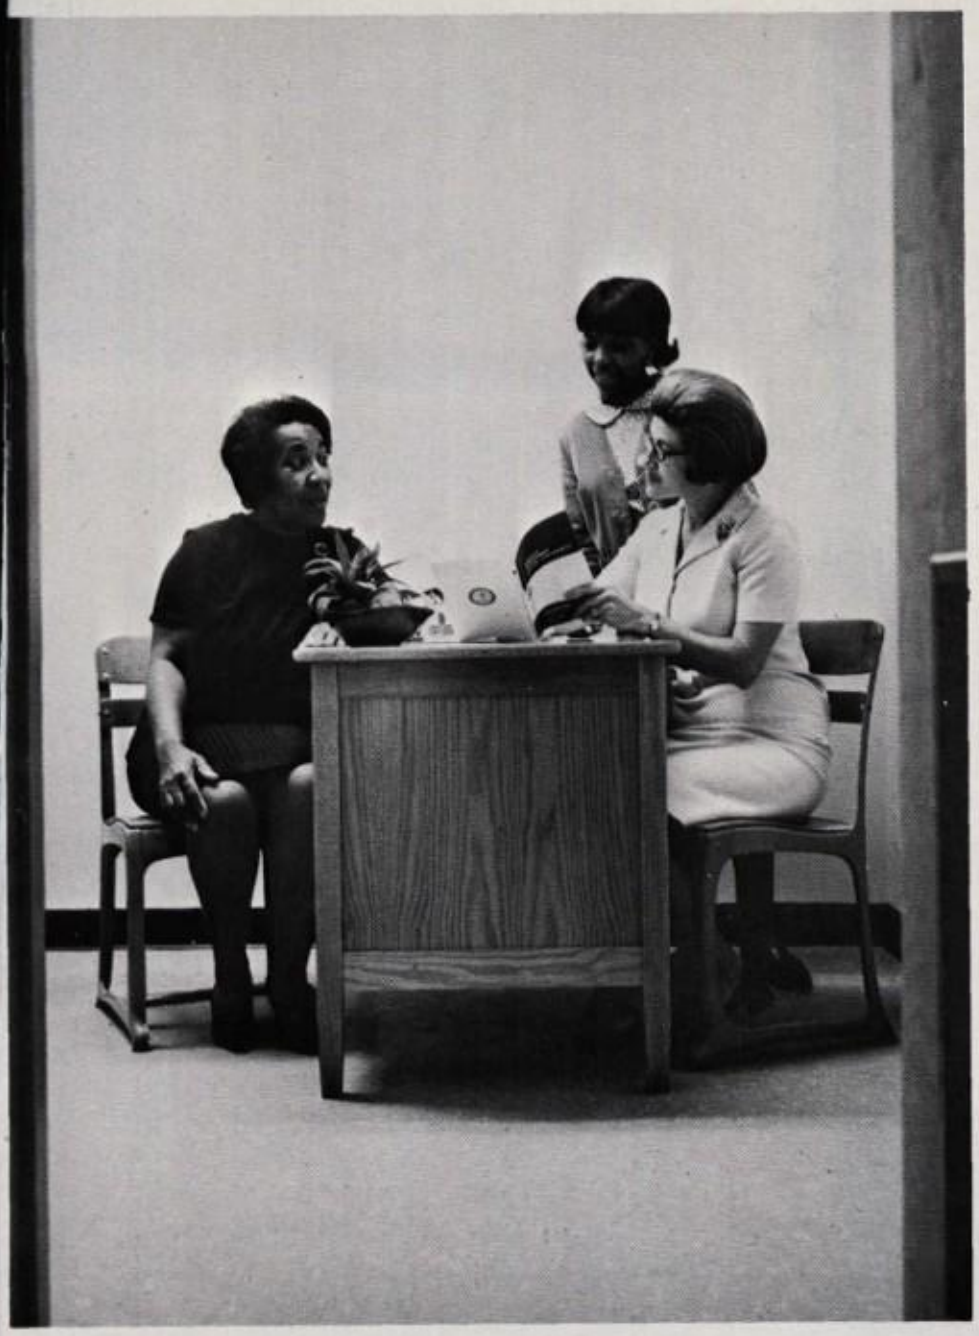
As Rusty Sentelle contributes his baritone voice to the First Presbyterian Church Choir, he discovers another method in which to communicate with God

Bounding from fresh, productive young minds, our thoughts take life as we speak. These thoughts represent to the world the composition of our generation—a generation which faces new and unanswered problems every day. Unfortunately, a large percentage of these problems are caused by a lack of understanding because we find it difficult to express our true thoughts to our friends, our parents, our teachers, and God. As each of us matures, by necessity, we learn to express our thoughts more clearly; and in doing so, we discover a great source of happiness and fulfillment.

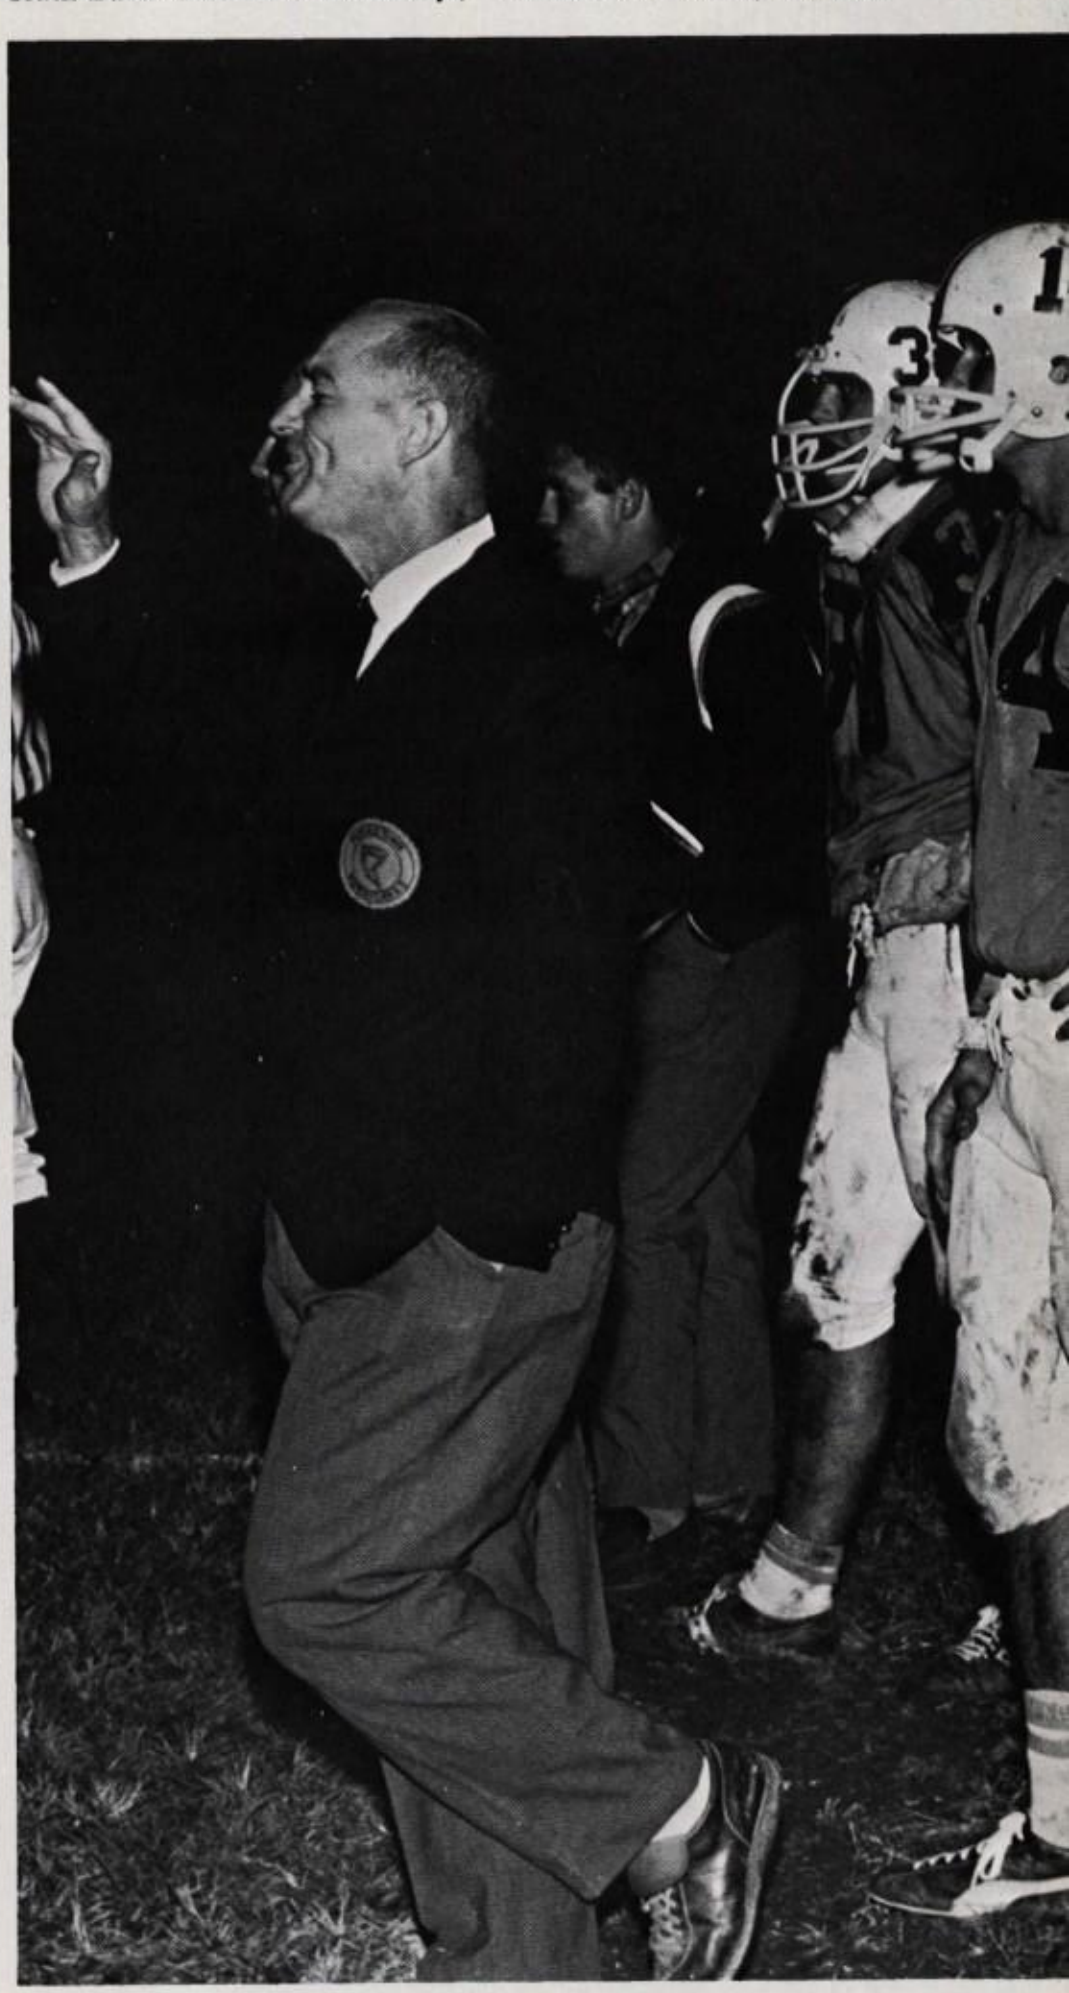
After an exhausting day of classes, Steve Thayer, Mark Anderson, Margaret Fisher, Judy Harrison, and Kathy Bible gather around their lockers to discuss their many experiences of the day.



Mrs. Stambaugh talks with Billie Cardwell and her mother about college.

Leslie Ooten finds that Mrs. Hilten's questioning book reports require a thorough knowledge of the characters and plot development.

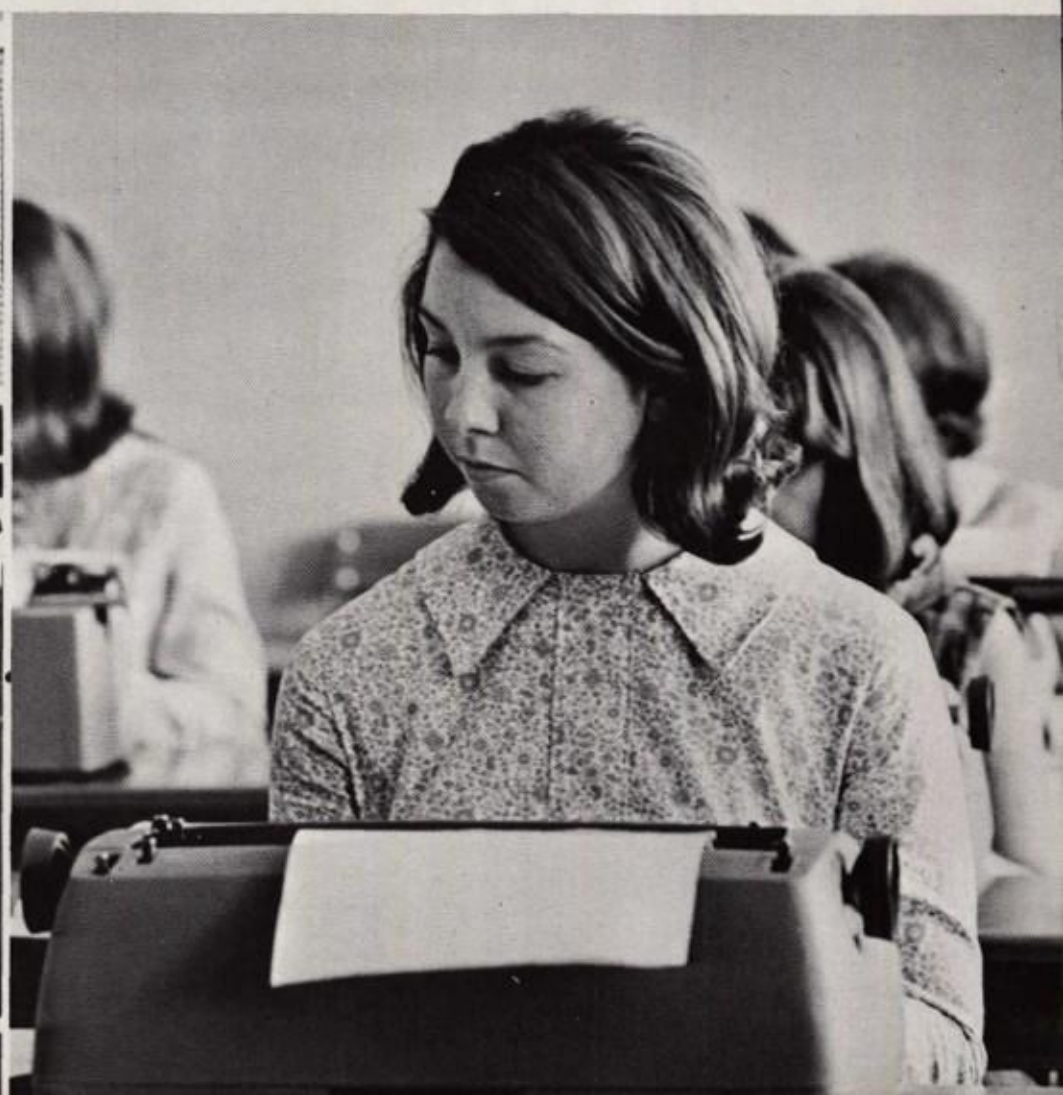
Coach Davis is all smiles as he says, "You fellows have my blessing."



Sam Mitchell, Hope Kren, Mike Buckner, and Debbie Beck examine the various delicate organs of a cat as they refer to their textbook for a helpful diagram.

Patricia Renner uses the mailbox at MHS to send a letter to a friend.

Jan Hinkle realizes that typing can be helpful to any student on his term papers.



Lois Shaver finds the public library a quiet place to concentrate as she writes her senior theme.

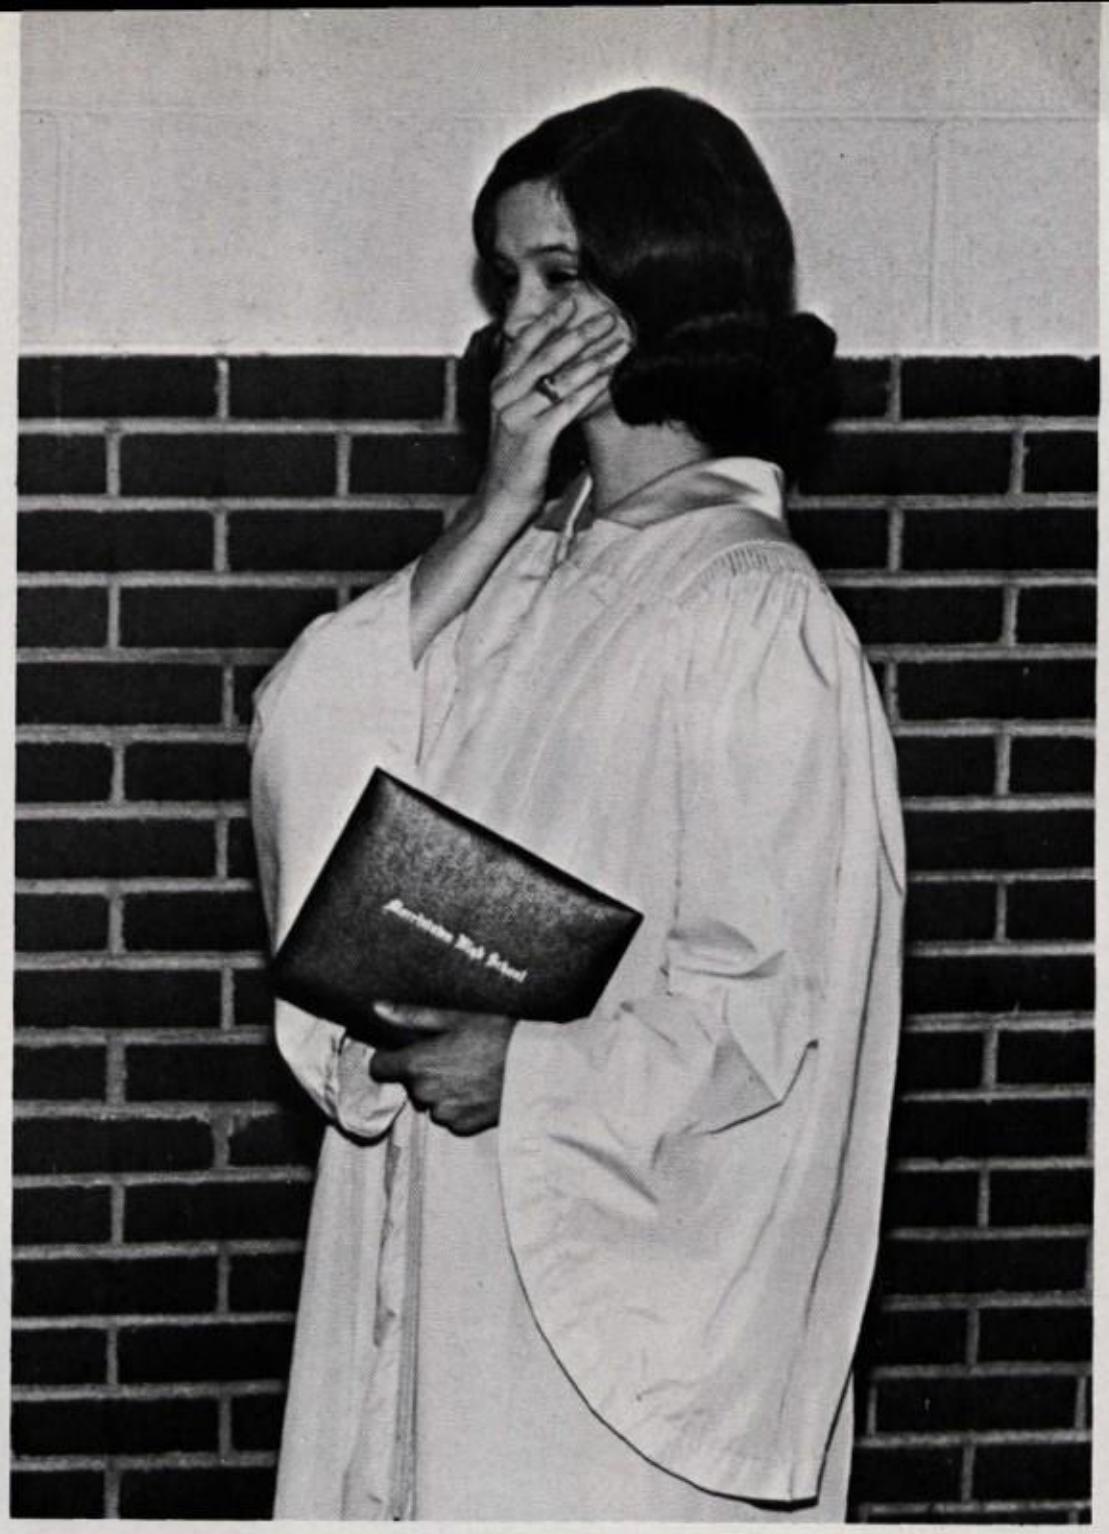
The most significant and treasured reflections of life are preserved through the written word. We know from experience that our memories cannot be trusted to retain all known factual knowledge. Through concentrated research and analysis, we fortify our intellect with the concepts and theories of others who have paved the way for easy accessibility of higher knowledge. However, our capacity to learn requires an openness of mind as well as a genuine desire to discover new facts. We, therefore, entrust to pen and paper the responsibility of keeping our choicest verbalized mental experiences alive.

Sandra Redden, Beverly Parker, Wayne Clement, Doug Hamilton, and Doris Edmonds realize the hours involved in promoting school spirit.

Coach Davis is carried off the field by his players after the victory over Young, which marked his hundredth win as a head coach.

In the 1967 Junior-Senior Play, "You Can't Take It With You," each member of the cast learns to alter his emotions to fit those of the character he portrays.

Paula Capps shows her enthusiasm by jumping high into the air.



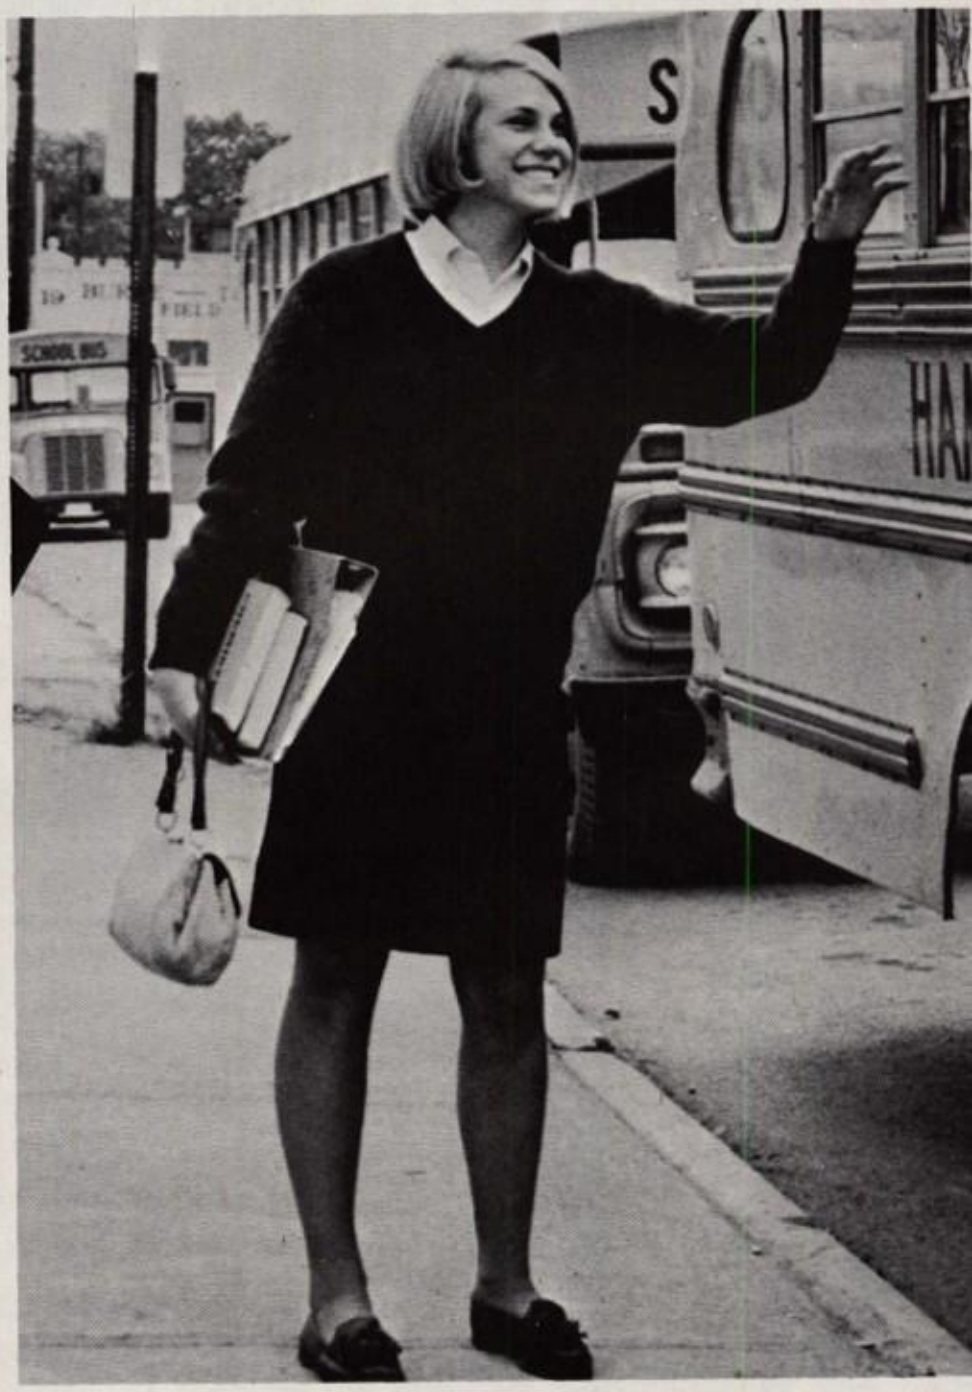
Sherry Teague will always remember graduation as a sad, yet rewarding experience.

For our generation, one of the most expressive forms of communication is emotions. Without realizing it, we convey our feelings to others each day through our own respective forms of emotional expression. Even as we strive to voice our thoughts, they often become so intense that they defy verbal communication. It is then that our emotions reveal our happiness or sorrow, our enthusiasm or apathy. Because emotions give us an outlet for our feelings, perhaps they paint a truer portrait of our inner selves than any other form of communication.

With other members of the First Methodist Church MYF, Brenda Pilcher and Helen Lewis often help with the Sunday School Class for retarded children.

Anchor Club members Patricia Riddle, Toni Rucker, and Mary Guertin exhibit a sense of pride in their community by raking leaves on the Courthouse lawn.

As Sally Lacy leaves school, she smiles and waves to one of her classmates.



Becky Allen, Eddie Price, Becky Wallace, Ginny Taylor, and Bill Adams take time out from dancing to relax for a while and to sing along while Raymond Sanders plays one of their favorite songs.

Our various actions present deep insight into our personalities. As we share life's many experiences with others, our attitudes toward life are changed into realities through our actions. By assisting others, we not only feel a sense of satisfaction, but also gain invaluable perceptiveness in regard to the feelings of people. Therefore, we seem to strengthen our character through this greater knowledge of human nature. This knowledge, in turn, will guide us as we eventually go forth to assume our leadership responsibilities in an adult world.

On a beautiful autumn afternoon, Pam Trobaugh captures the multi-colored scenery on her canvas.

"Because nothing can keep us apart. You know that. You must know it."

Through the cooperation of an industrious group of juniors and seniors, the 1966-1967 Junior-Senior Play was performed for an appreciative audience. Due to the renovation of the high school, the three presentations of the comical three-act production were given on April 27, 28, and 29, 1967, in the Morristown Junior High School Auditorium.

Martin Vanderhof's living room is the focal point of action throughout the entire comedy. In this one room, plays are written, meals are eaten, snakes are kept, ballet lessons are given, musical compositions are created, and people are arrested. These things seem strange to other people; but to the Sycamore family, these are just everyday occurrences.

After the conclusion of the final scene, the chuckling audience put forth a hearty round of applause for the well-deserving cast.

Stairway to the Stars: 1967 Prom

Ragena Walker, President of the Junior Class, and Christopher Schultz crown the King and Queen of the Prom, Duggan Bradley and Mary Will Creech.

Transformed into a dreamland of suspended clouds and glittering stars, the Isenberg-Siler Gymnasium was the setting of an enjoyable evening that will be long remembered by many juniors and seniors. For the formally-dressed young ladies and their handsome, tuxedo-clad escorts, the 1966-1967 Junior-Senior Prom climaxed an exciting and profitable year.

A garden containing silver trees, multi-colored flowers, and a flowing fountain provided a realistic touch to the entrance. Upon ascending into the gym, the moonlight beamed upon a sea of dancers as they swayed to the modern music of the Plebians. In the background a cloud-covered ladder climbed into a star-studded sky, as befitting this year's theme—"Stairway to the Stars."

The evening slipped away quickly with the crowning of Duggan Bradley and Mary Will Creech as King and Queen of the Prom. As the last notes faded, each student left with cherished memories of a most successful prom.

Judy Stubblefield, Gail Noe, and Larry Collins are hard at work on the prom.

The Junior Class officers and their escorts are: Ragena Walker, President, and Christopher Schultz; Rita Johnson, Vice-President, and Larry Hurst; Linda Catron, Secretary, and Michael Compton; and Debbie Rouse, Treasurer, and Donny Guice.

These juniors and seniors, along with those who attended, pass through the entrance to the prom with eager anticipation of what the evening holds for them.

Surrounded by glittering stars, everyone enjoys dancing to popular music by the Plebians.

Rainy Homecoming Doesn't Dampen Spirits

Although rain forced cancellation of some homecoming activities, the spirit of the spectators was not dampened. Homecoming was not only the time for graduates of MHS to return to their alma mater, but also the climax of the football season for the MHS student body.

After a hard-fought first half, the team left the field; and the Hurricane Band prepared for the ceremony. To strains of "On A Clear Day", the queen candidates met their escorts and were introduced. Tension was at its peak as the moment of crowning drew near. However, it was soon released through screams of happiness when the announcement was made that Rose Holt was Homecoming Queen for 1967. Rose was then crowned and congratulated by the Honorable John D. Henderson, Mayor of Morristown.

Everyone—students and alumni alike—recalled past memories as the band played the Morristown High School Alma Mater. Afterwards, Queen Rose and her attendants were escorted to a special platform where they watched the Hurricanes defeat the Devils of Greeneville High School.

The colorful balloons, which were released at kickoff, add to the Homecoming festivities.

1967 HOMECOMING COURT: Margaret Payne and Eddie Price, Barbara Ford and Johnny Baxter, Queen Rose Holt and Mike Laughters, Sandi Rader and Bobby Marcum, and Barbara Lowry and Richard Carter.

Before the homecoming game, Lynne Ann Smith and Debbie Rouse assist Tommy Hale as he registers at the Student Council's alumni booth on the MHS lawn.

"And this shall be a sign unto you; Ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger."

"And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the highest."

"And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people."

Seniors Relate Christmas Spirit to Students

"And when they were come into the house, they saw the young child with Mary his mother."

No other American holiday has so rich a heritage as Christmas. The traditions of trimming trees, exchanging gifts, sending Christmas cards, cooking holiday foods, and visiting old friends have been passed from generation to generation. But the traditional observance that has most influenced the world is the meaningful Christmas story. This one event shows how peace and goodwill can become a reality instead of merely a hope.

Each year the Senior Class attempts to bring the true Christmas spirit to the students of MHS as they portray the story of Christ's birth. The seniors themselves elect the cast, prepare the setting, and provide the costumes. This year rain cancelled the night performance of the story and changed the afternoon performance from the football field to Isenburg-Siler Gymnasium. However, this change of plans did not decrease the spirit of the presentation. As Rusty Sentelle read the Biblical story and the band played the familiar Christmas carols, the true meaning of Christmas passed from person to person . . . binding the student body together with peace and good will.

Who's Who Climaxes High School Activities

On February 15, the 1968 Who's Who Program climaxed four years of hard work and constant effort for twenty-four seniors. The theme of the program was appropriately centered upon the attributes "Talent, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service," which are the criteria for selection to Who's Who at MHS.

In order to be selected to Who's Who, each senior was earlier asked to fill in a form on which he listed all activities in which he had participated during his entire four years of high school. Participation in athletics, publications, clubs, dramatics, and music are included in this list. Points are then awarded for these activities—with additional points being given for honor grades —and the seniors with the highest number of points are selected for Who's Who.

After Mr. Murrell Weesner, assistant principal, read the names of the seniors who composed the 1968 Who's Who, these students came forward to receive corsages or boutonnieres and to sit in front of the senior class. The featured speaker, Dr. W. E. Darby, President of the Tennessee Baptist Association and pastor of the First Baptist Church of Jefferson City, then spoke to the MHS student body on future success in life. Following this speech, the MHS Concert Choir presented "Choose Something Like a Star" from "Frostiana" to conclude the special program.

At the conclusion of the program the seniors elected Mr. and Miss MHS. Barbara Lowry and Bob Marcum were elected to this honor.

Thursday night a banquet was given by the ITAKHA Staff in honor of the students making Who's Who. This informal occasion marked the end of a very happy day for the twenty-four honorees.

Student Council Co-Ordinates School Activities

Lynne Ann Smith, President, and Debbie Rouse help register graduates, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Fisher, at the Homecoming Hospitality Center.

Student Council members have succeeded in carrying out the Council's function, which is to coordinate student activities and to encourage all students to participate in school organizations. The members met with their sponsor, Mr. Weesner, weekly during school hours to plan projects for the student body. To begin the school year, the Council compiled orientation information for the Freshman Class. Homecoming brought back many Morristown High School graduates who were cordially greeted with the friendly smiles of the Council members at the Hospitality Center sponsored by the Student Council. As the year progressed, plans were made for the annual Harvest Festival in November and the door decoration contest in December.

As 1968 rolled in, members of the Council made new plans for the concluding portion of the academic year. The Council provided suggestion boxes placed in convenient areas around the school. This gave the students an opportunity to suggest changes that they felt were needed in the school organization or school facilities. Two other annual projects included compiling the student directory and holding class elections.

ITAKHA Accents Communication

In an attempt to make MHS students more aware of the importance of communication in the world today, the 1968 ITAKHA Staff has portrayed in this volume the daily activities of the student body. We have strived to capture the many ways by which youth communicate. In doing this, each staff member has gained a more realistic understanding of the ways we communicate and also has discovered the difficulties of producing a yearbook.

To perfect the quality of the 1968 ITAKHA, Bob Charles and Sandra Williams attended a journalism workshop at the University of Tennessee School of Journalism in Knoxville where they studied the fundamentals of producing a good yearbook. Donny Guice, Sandra Guice, Becky Johns, Rita Johnson, Ragena Walker, and Sandra Williams, six members of the staff, attended a seminar at Milligan College sponsored by the Taylor Publishing Company. While attending the seminar, the members were presented a second place trophy for sample layouts and copy. With this preparation, the staff has worked toward an "A" rating as the 1967 ITAKHA received from NSYA. Through our joint effort, we hope we have left worthwhile thoughts with the readers.

The ITAKHA Staff finds the overcrowded conditions a handicap in producing the yearbook.

HURRICANE Communicates Weekly Activities

Nancy Little, Managing Editor, and Linda Catron, Editor, realize that there is a story out there somewhere.

Publishing a weekly school paper is more involved than perhaps most students realize. The HURRICANE Staff, nevertheless, met its deadline each week in order that the student body could be "in the know" about school activities.

Editor Linda Catron and managing editor Nancy Little attended the annual U. T. School of Journalism held in Knoxville, Tennessee, during July. While there the girls attended lecture sessions and workshops where they learned basic fundamentals of newspaper production, which they then put into practice in the HURRICANE issues.

In addition to the weekly paper, the staff also published a monthly paper which consisted of eight to ten delightful pages. Contained within the pages are reports on current events, letters to the editor, editorials, and a few humorous and original extras. The HURRICANE Staff added a new attraction to the monthly issue also. Members of the staff voted on a Boy of the Month and a Girl of the Month and included a brief resume of their activities in the monthly publication.

Debating Team Develops Research Skills

Debating Team is an example of the methodical advancement of an organization at MHS. Increasing membership and spreading enthusiasm are only a few apparent signs of the growing significance of the team.

Throughout history, the ability to communicate wisely has been the main advantage of an accelerated civilization. Debaters at MHS soon learn that self-opinionated arguing has to be discarded and supplemented by facts. Neither side in a debate tries to convince the other it is right; rather each side presents ideas to an audience who decides the merits of the arguments of each team.

Working behind a towering mass of magazines, books, newspapers, and other reference materials are members of the Debating Team. Numerous hours are spent in searching for adequate information about topics covering things instrumental to local, national, and universal situations. However, the hours of hard work offer enormous rewards. Debaters utilize the skills of reading and research in order to become familiar with various facets of life, to confer with others, to learn to accept different viewpoints, and to develop exactness which comes from establishing an individual style of written and oral expression.

As in years past, the Hurricane Band continued proudly to represent Morristown High School at home, in surrounding communities, and across the state. In December, the band under the direction of Mr. William Biddle presented a Christmas concert in conjunction with the Junior High and elementary school bands. Members of the audience were thrilled with both light and serious musical numbers that were performed. As the crowds of people returned home the familiar tune of "Sleigh Ride" continued to ring in their ears. Other Christmas activities included participating in the annual Christmas parade and performing for the Nativity Scene.

Seven members of the band were chosen to attend All State Band East in Knoxville after auditioning. After a weekend of rehearsals, a concert was given on Sunday, February 4, 1968, to the public. On May 9, 10, and 11, the band traveled to Memphis, Tennessee, for the annual Cotton Festival. While there, the unit gave three concerts for the public and marched in two parades. The trip was not all work for the band members since sightseeing added a touch of fun and excitement.

MHS Choir Communicates through Music

Pam Peters, chosen Alto I of the All-State Choir, practices her music as she accompanies herself on the piano.

Lifting their voices in song, the Morristown High Choir participated in programs of every type this year. They presented a choral program for the students at Thanksgiving. Before and during the Christmas season, the Choir sang at a Rotary Luncheon, at a dinner at the Holiday Inn for Morristown Batting and Foam, at Gibson's Discount Center, and at the Whitesburg High School Christmas Party. They also recorded tapes for radio station WMTN AM-FM.

All-state auditions were held February 10, and those members selected participated in the All-State Choirs Festival in Chattanooga April 3, 4, and 5. The Choir journeyed to the University of Tennessee for the High School Vocal Festival, held March 19, 20, and 21. Songs were sung by the Choir for Honors Day and Who's Who, and members sang for Evensong at All Saints Episcopal Church during the Lenten season. The Westminster Choir Festival was held at the First Methodist Church in Morristown on May 5, and the Morristown High Choir participated. The Choir also operated a fortune-telling booth at the Harvest Festival.

The Concert Choir delights the student body at the Who's Who Program with the meaningful and well-prepared selection of "Choose Something Like A Star."

Anchor Club Offers Service Opportunity

Summer did not necessarily mean vacation for those industrious Anchor Club members who proved to be a boost to their community as they helped teach swimming lessons to retarded children, worked in Head Start, helped at the Day Care Center, or participated in the many other summer projects.

Anchor welcomed the teachers back to a new school year with a salad luncheon, which was repeated in January during In-Service Training. The teachers also greatly appreciated the cookies, candies, and punch that the Anchor members served on Teacher Appreciation Day.

As school continued and school work mounted, members of the Anchor Club continued to seek ways to serve both the school and community. Paint-splattered blouses did not discourage those members who painted the band bleachers in Burke-Toney Stadium and the picnic shelter in the Jaycee Park. Other members seized rakes and cleared the Courthouse lawn of leaves.

Anchor Club sold cokes and candy at the Harvest Festival. During Christmas they collected food baskets and delivered them to the needy. In order to create a more meaningful Christmas spirit, members presented a program to the Pilots. The first snowflakes of winter heralded the Anchor-Key Club Christmas dance, which was climaxed by the crowning of Miss Anchor, Miss Betty Farmer.

Alpha Hi-Y Furnishes Christmas Tree

Stressing its goal—maintaining and extending high standards of Christian character throughout the home, school, and community—the Morristown Alpha Hi-Y chapter was responsible for several worthwhile projects this year.

Alpha Hi-Y members brought the spirit of Christmas to Morristown High School by providing a Christmas tree for the front lawn of the school. The twenty-foot tree remained lighted at night and during the morning until after the Christmas holidays. Alpha Hi-Y's beautification project involved cleaning the gym steps and painting them orange and black, the school colors. On November 4, Alpha Hi-Y boys put to test their hours of practice when they played the Key Club in the Hi-Y Key Club Football game. Alpha Hi-Y was victorious, with a score of 13-0. Members ran a brisk business with a "Jolly Jail" which they operated at the Harvest Festival.

Beta Hi-Y Encourages Service

Busily engaged in cleaning the concession stand are Stan Harrison, Becky Graham, Joe Whiteside, Sam Mitchell, Mike Taber, and Alvin Nichols.

After being absent last year from the roster of clubs at MHS, the Beta Hi-Y has reasserted its former importance. The boys have participated enthusiastically in the annual array of service projects. By improving the general appearance of the concession stands and bleachers in Burke-Toney Stadium with the aid of brooms, hammers, and other necessary implements, the club displayed the feeling of pride which has been prevalent throughout the school.

As a result of attending many different churches in the Morristown area, the Beta Hi-Y has strengthened the basic Christian-oriented structure of its constitution. Using "An old-fashioned Christmas" as their theme, members combined their efforts with the Beta Tri-Hi-Y to build a float for the annual Morristown Christmas parade. Activity is a major part of any club, and the Beta Hi-Y added a car wash and a basketball throw at the Harvest Festival to its list of money-making projects.

Alpha Tri-Hi-Y Sponsors King and Queen

Variety was added to the Harvest Festival this year as a King and Queen contest was sponsored by the Alpha Tri-Hi-Y. Students bought candy from the boxes of their favorite candidates; and the winners, Steve Watkins and Debbie Rouse, were crowned as royalty of 1967.

Attending pre-legislature workshops in January, Tri-Hi-Y delegates prepared for Youth and Government, which is the mock congress held each spring in Nashville at the State Capitol. The Congress is made up of "senators" and "representatives" from Tri-Hi-Y chapters throughout the state.

The Powder Puff football game, an annual battle between Tri-Hi-Y members and Anchor Club members, was again played. However, unlike former years, the two teams met in the spring.

Alpha Tri-Hi-Y also sponsored a Teacher Appreciation Day and participated in the clean-up campaign held in the spring. Through these yearly activities the Alpha chapter has continued to fulfill its purpose: "To create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, school, and community high standards of Christian character."

Vice-President Rachel Tinsley and President Ginny Taylor began a new tradition when they crowned the first Harvest Festival King and Queen, Steve Watkins and Debbie Rouse.

Becky Noe, Becky Wallace, Nancy Little, and Linda Catron honor Mrs. Hilten on Teacher Appreciation Day.

Beta Tri-Hi-Y Builds Christmas Float

Debbie Jones, Vickie Kinser, Jeanie Cloar, Julie Sprinkle, Lea Long, Jan Jarnigan, and Mary Sharpe pause for a rest after caroling for residents of Hamblen Hall.

Beginning their service year, the Beta Tri-Hi-Y painted the set for the play "Barefoot in the Park," produced by the Morristown Theater Guild. As Christmas drew near, the members built and entered a float in the annual Christmas parade. Plans were discussed and completed for sending Christmas cards to soldiers in Vietnam and to the patients at Greene Valley Hospital. At the same time members gave a Christmas party for residents at Hamblen Hall.

Delegates of the Beta Tri-Hi-Y attended the Hi-Y-Tri-Hi-Y state convention on December 1, 2, and 3 in Knoxville. There they participated in clinics and took part in group discussions concerning problems of interest to their age group. Other convention activities involved practice of parliamentary procedure and planning of statewide activities for the coming year. Election of state officers was also held at this time.

Beta Tri-Hi-Y members Nancy Noe, Pam Hinkle, Kathy Beckett, and Beth Roberts address Christmas cards to servicemen in Vietnam.

Key Club Sponsors Clothes Drive

As a subsidiary of Kiwanis International, Key Club International strives to serve the school and community. The club endeavors to develop the initiative and leadership of the young men through service to the home, school, community, and nation.

Service projects performed for the Morristown Kiwanis Club were among service activities of the Key Club this year. One of these many projects was providing willing workers for the annual Ladies Night Banquet sponsored by the Kiwanians. One long range project consisted of a clothes drive for the Junior High School. Another service activity found the club involved in the painting of trash barrels for use in the school parking lots. Members also attended church together several times this year. The hard work put into the decoration of Mr. Keener's door before Christmas holidays resulted in third prize for their efforts. Club enthusiasm was brought to a peak during the friendly clashes of the Key Club-Alpha Hi-Y game, but Key Club was forced to accept defeat.

Painting barrels for the school parking lot are Jerry Helton, Chuck Hicks, Joe Grigsby, Mike West, Nick Francis, Darrell Long, and Sam Hale.

Beta Club Recognizes Scholarship

Any junior or senior student may be proud to be a member of the Beta Club, whose membership is based on academic achievement and scholarship. The club boasts forty-six new members this year. In December, these new members took the Beta Club oath at a special program for parents and new members at the Morristown Utilities Building. Mr. Ralph Sharpe, who along with Mrs. Jones is a club sponsor, was the main speaker.

During the Christmas season Beta Club members were quite active. As in the past few years, club members took a Christmas tree to Hamblen Hall and decorated it with ornaments given by the members. In cooperation with the Christmas door decoration contest sponsored by the Student Council, members worked diligently decorating Mrs. Jones's door. For the members' fine work the club received Honorable Mention. Another Christmas project concerned a drive sponsored by the Red Cross Council for clothes and money for Greene Valley residents. By a unanimous vote the club members voted that each member would give a quarter; the entire amount then was donated in the name of the Beta Club.

Nancy Seal and Rachel Tinsley proudly display the Beta Club Christmas door which received Honorable Mention in the door decoration contest.

FHA I: Communications Strengthen Relations

Participation in school activities as a club unit kept members of the Future Homemakers of America Chapter I busy throughout this school year.

FHA I helped with the clothes and magazine drive for Greene Valley and delivered cookies and small favors to Hamblen Hall, where members sang carols for, and visited with, the elderly people there. The club entered a beautiful design in the Christmas door decoration contest and participated in the clean-up campaign. The girls worked on their Junior, Chapter, and State Degrees; and those who reached completion were honored at the FHA Banquet in April. These State Degree earners and the official delegates attended the State Convention in the spring.

FHA I members participated in the 4-H—FHA Fair Talent Show, and their talent, a singing quartet, won second place. Those same members also entered the VFW Talent Show for the Crippled Children's Hospital.

FHA II Communicates Through Activities

STATE DEGREE EARNERS: Mary Pittman, Rose Holt, and Jan Hileman

Under the guidance of their Sponsor, Mrs. Katherine Smith, the Future Homemakers of America Chapter II has had a very productive year. To begin the year, the chapter officers attended a training program at the State FHA Camp Clements in Doyle, Tennessee. In October, the chapter members attended a Sub-Regional Officers Training program held in Rutledge.

Other service projects included wrapping packages which the Red Cross Council collected for Vietnam, sponsoring a shooting gallery at the Harvest Festival, and selecting a "House of the Month" for the Beautification project. Pictures of the "House of the Month" were published in the Hurricane.

As a climax to a year of work on FHA Junior, Chapter, and State Degrees, the group attended FHA Day in Jefferson City and the State Convention in Nashville. The members and guests were honored at a banquet in April as a special treat for all their hard work.

FHA III Enlarges "Communication" as Theme

"Communication: Individual, Family, Society" became the theme for FHA III projects and activities throughout the year. "Daddy Date Night," a picnic for members and their fathers, offered a chance for fun and companionship. In October, FHA III held a joint initiation with Chapters I and II. With Debbie Rouse serving as Smoky Mountain Sub-region President for 1967-68, the girls participated in a sub-region program at Rutledge. During November, members took part in the Harvest Festival, and collected a booklet of favorite recipes of faculty members as a gift for the faculty. Delegates to the State Convention in Nashville in March supported Janice Davis, who served as State Treasurer for 1967-68. State degrees were conferred and new officers elected during FHA Day at Jefferson High, the site of a sub-regional meeting. April brought the Annual FHA Banquet at which the "Future Homemaker of the Year" was presented.

Four chapter members modeled in the FHA Fashion Show at the TVA and I Fair, and all members presented a fashion show for their mothers in May. The 1967-68 chapter clean-up project was the maintenance of the second floor teacher's lounge. Miss Sandy Walton was the 1968 Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for MHS.

FFA Exhibits Handcrafts, Crops, and Livestock

Developing leadership in the various aspects of agriculture, cooperating with both advisers and students, and understanding the duties of being a citizen are the main purposes of the Future Farmers of America. Regularly scheduled meetings are held on the third Monday night of each month at the Vocational Agriculture Department to allow the boys the opportunity of sharing ways of applying the present ideas to the future.

Activities of the organization have been extended to meet the demands of the members. The FFA and 4-H Club Fair was held at the beginning of the school year and gave the participants a chance to exhibit self-made handcrafts, crops, and livestock. During Christmas, the spirit of helping others was displayed as the club collected Christmas baskets for the underprivileged. Since the FFA and 4-H Fat Calf Show and Sale is an annual project, the members of the club will now be able to win prizes and also sell the cattle for profit.

After a busy first semester, the FFA planned for a FFA Sweetheart Contest, a public speaking contest, a banquet, and the FFA Convention in Nashville. Thus, through the Future Farmers of America, the boys are obtaining individual benefits and are improving the community.

"All right now, which one of you three boys was caught speeding?"

Mr. Denver Ruth, Adviser, explains the different types of grasses to Johnny Chance, Vice-President; Sam Hale, President; Charles Anderson, Reporter; Jimmy Fullington, Treasurer; Billy Manning, Chaplain; Jimmy Sauceman, Sentinel; Debbie Shockley, FFA Sweetheart; and Douglas Masengill, Secretary.

The annual 4-H Fat Calf Show attracts many spectators as well as FFA members who await the final decision of the judges.

VICA Pursues Studies and Careers

During the past few years, the Vocational and Industrial Club of America has shown a marked increase in membership. Simultaneously, VICA has developed many new opportunities for students to continue their pursuit of learning in the regular school program while at the same time acquiring valuable experience in facing the demands of a profession. Hospitals, newspaper offices, and automobile garages are only a few of the major industrial and professional businesses in the area which utilize the talents and abilities of these young adults.

Members of the VICA also enjoy working together on various projects for enjoyment and education. During club meetings, Robert's Rules of Order is closely followed in order that each member may learn and practice correct parliamentary procedure. Members also take part in contests in their particular field of study on local, regional, and state levels. A Christmas party for all VICA members gave everyone a chance to become better acquainted and to enjoy mutual fellowship.

Glenda Strange, Social Chairman; Barbara Alvis, Reporter; Mrs. Betsy Smith, Sponsor; Barbara Ford, President; Andrea Kilgore, Vice-President; Becky Buchanan, Treasurer; and Carolyn Cupp, Secretary, admire their work on their Christmas door.

Members of the Senior Y-Teens, an organization of high school junior and senior girls, have enjoyed an eventful year. During the Christmas season, the girls gave Christmas baskets to the school's custodians in appreciation for their daily efforts to keep the school clean. The club also decorated Mrs. Betsy Smith's classroom door in co-operation with the annual door decoration contest.

As a beautification project, the club members chose to clean the trophy cases in the gym hallway. This project included cleaning each trophy as well as the shelves.

Senior Y-Teen members are always anxious to serve their community. In March girls from the club aided in collecting money for the annual March of Dimes, an annual project for the Y-Teens.

School activities have also kept the Senior Y-Teen members very busy. Among these activities have been the Harvest Festival at the Talley-Ward Building and a basketball game against the Alpha Tri-Hi-Y.

Judy Harrison and Donna Mullendore demonstrate the latest dance at the Harvest Festival as The Elusives provide the music.

Club members Kathy Flack, Cathy Johnson, Sherry Beene, and Carolyn Pratt tackle the job of cleaning the trophy cases in the gym hallway as a beautification project.

Junior Y-Teens Demonstrate Christmas Spirit

"My cleanser's better than yours!" exclaims Francie Folsom to Debbie Richardson as Junior Y-Teen members prepare to clean the study hall.

Service projects taken on by Junior Y-Teens this year were many and varied. Before Thanksgiving, members collected food for a Thanksgiving basket, which was delivered to a deserving family. Junior Y-Teens aided in the collection of clothes, shoes, and magazines for the children of Greene Valley Hospital and visited Hamblen Hall with Christmas gifts for residents. Members gave their time and effort to address and to send Christmas cards to soldiers in Vietnam. Teachers were presented with appreciation-packages by Junior Y-Teens, and extra Christmas ornaments were distributed to less fortunate families.

Fund-raising projects included a Ball Toss at the Harvest Festival and operating the "Hat-Check" for the Annual Chamber of Commerce dinner at the VFW building. Before Valentine's Day, members prepared Valentine cards for Hamblen Hall residents and collected money for the World Fellowship Fund. Later in the spring, Junior Y-Teens attended church together several times; and all the members enjoyed a picnic at "Woodstone", the home of their sponsor, Mrs. Wolf.

Thespian Society Displays Dramatic Talent

Students who are interested in dramatics and stage production and who have some experience in these fields may join the Thespian Society, Troup #571. New members of the club receive Dramatics, a magazine of suggested plays and reports with pictures of plays produced by Thespian Societies around the country.

Members of the Thespians were given an opportunity to use their talents at the annual Harvest Festival held at the Talley-Ward Building. "The Sublime Comedies" presented were four short skits acted out by Thespian members. These skits illustrated a six foot, five year old boy, an irritating lady cashier, an uncomfortable and extremely dressed apartment seeker, and a lady's first airplane ride.

Once again the Thespian Society walked away a winner in the Christmas door decoration contest sponsored during the Christmas season by the Student Council. With the help of Thespian members, Katherrine Smith and Michael Compton, the Thespians won second place for the expert job that was done on the door of the club's sponsor, Mrs. Conkin.

Freshmen and Sophomores were given the rare privilege of being among the first to use the new auditorium facilities for the Freshman-Sophomore play. This year the Thespians presented the one-act play "Who Dunnit" for the student body.

With membership in the Art Club this year open to any MHS student interested in art, the club has been able to expand its number of members and activities. A trip to Dulin Gallery for an "Op Art" show, followed by the annual excursion to the Craftsman's Fair in Gatlinburg, began the school year. At the Harvest Festival the Art Club presented students with "The Trip", a psychedelic panorama of sights and sounds which was presented again in the spring. The concentrated effort and artistic ability of members in the decoration of Mrs. Breeding's door tied the Art Club for first place in the door decoration contest. After having selected an "Artist of the Month" for each month of the school year, the Art Club selected an "Artist of the Year" at a tea and reception in May. All of the artists were given a chance to exhibit their work at that time.

JCL Studies Roman Life and Customs

Members of the Junior Classical League have increased their knowledge of Roman life through a study of the ancient Roman customs. While translating selections into Latin or English, the students not only increase their speed and ability but also discover many important facts about the ruins, art, and artifacts of Rome. Students of Latin realize that conjugating, declining, and learning vocabulary words are the basic principles to be mastered; nevertheless, interested Latin students seek an understanding of the people who once spoke the language. Often students work together making drawings and sketches of people and important buildings and places of ancient Rome which are shared with the other Latin students. Many other students work on various other projects. With the aid of the Latin teachers and fellow classmates, everyone is given an opportunity to understand the Latin language.

Miss Grace Catron, Sponsor, tells Hope Kren, Secretary; Libby Bible, Beautification Queen Candidate; Alvin Nichols, President; Virginia Feeney, Treasurer; Kathy Hurst, Vice-President; and Miss Aileen Catron, Sponsor, that they should begin their day with Latin.

Spanish Club Promotes "Buena Voluntad"

David Gjedde and Mary Paddon urge a willing customer to try his luck with the darts.

Once again Spanish students were given the opportunities to live in the atmosphere they had studied about and to speak a language different from their own. In the latter part of June, 1967, six members of the Spanish Club and Mrs. Elisa Brown, the club sponsor, journeyed to Saltillo, Mexico. While there, the members attended classes on Spanish grammar and enjoyed the companionship of a Mexican tutor who familarized them with the Mexican customs and traditions. The two week visit in Mexico proved to be very educational.

Spanish Club members were quite active in all school activities. The dart booth sponsored by the Spanish Club at the Harvest Festival proved to be a big success. Members of the Spanish Club excellently decorated Mrs. Brown's door for the Christmas door decoration contest.

Because of the success of last year's spaghetti supper, the club sponsored a second dinner this spring. On February 17, Spanish students and German students joined together for a Spanish-German Club dance.

David Gjedde, President; Sandra Williams, Secretary; Carolyn Pratt, Beautification Queen Candidate; Angela Cash, Vice-President; and Shari Farris, Treasurer, seek an understanding of Spanish History with the aid of Mrs. Brown, Sponsor.

German Club Is Organized

Although it is a newly-formed organization, the German Club has been very active in school and community activities. The membership is composed of high school students taking German this year. Miss Cynthia Trobaugh, who teaches German, is the club's sponsor.

It has been the club members' purpose to create a greater interest in Germany and German culture. In order to carry out this purpose, the members have enjoyed a German speaker and several guests from Germany. Also, in order to create an even greater understanding of German life, members undertook the task of learning a German polka as well as sponsoring their own German dance. An atmosphere of hay and pitchforks in a barn belonging to one of the members of the club made the event even more realistic.

In the summer of 1968, several members of the club will make a trip to Germany, where they will spend six weeks doing further study in the German language and culture.

German Club members are also interested in their own community. As a community project as well as a school clean-up project, members of the German Club cleaned and repaired the Rose School playground.

Larry Hurst, Reporter, has some interesting news about Germany for Miss Trobaugh, Sponsor; Cheryl Helton, Beautification Queen Candidate; Jackie Parker, Secretary; Tommy Folsom, Vice-President; Chris Chandler, Treasurer, and Bill Adams, President.

Undertaking the tremendous task of preparing a "Christmas" for servicemen in Vietnam, able Red Cross Council members completed a successful drive for gifts and money. All students brought money and items, such as playing cards, paperback books, and candy. The senior class contributed to a special fund for the purchase of cigarettes through the cooperation of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company. A total of $121.08 was collected in the familiar iron pots placed in the halls to be used for the purchase of the cigarettes. The drive was culminated by a televised presentation at the V.F.W. in which the wrapped gifts were turned over to the V.F.W. officers to be flown by the Air National Guard to Vietnam. At the same time, money and clothing were collected to be sent to the children of Greene Valley.

Other activities were carried out for the benefit of Morristown-Hamblen Hospital, Doctors Hospital, and Hamblen Hall. One of these projects took place at Easter when members delivered special Easter favors to hospital patients.

Members of FHA II, Sally Lacy, Becky Noe, Alicia Drinnon, Judy Welch, Judy Heck, Pat Epps, Alice Hill, Linda Britton, and Mary Paddon aid the Red Cross Council by packing and wrapping Christmas gifts for Vietnam.

Future Teachers Acknowledge Education Week

Membership in the FTA both presents students with valuable insight into the complex world of teaching and also gives them an opportunity to become a part of this teaching world through club activities. After a week-long membership drive in the fall, the FTA held a "get acquainted" tea for old and new members. The Future Teachers acknowledged American Education Week by holding a tea for the teachers and presenting them with pencils.

During the weeks before Halloween, members raised funds by selling Halloween insurance to all interested buyers and, in November, by operating an ice cream and candy stand at the Harvest Festival. With a thought for their community, members collected money for the new Hamblen County Library. Before Christmas, Future Teachers participated in the door decoration contest, sent cards to patients at Hamblen Hospital, and collected food for Christmas baskets.

Members also attended the Future Teachers' Convention at George Peabody College in Nashville in April. There they participated in clinics and met with other Future Teachers from throughout Tennessee.

Library Club Assists in Organizing New Library

Terry Pierce, Dexter Blakeley, and Kenny Brooks, and Mrs. Brown watch as Mrs. Cupp prepares some of the new audio visual materials for use.

Maintenance of the Morristown High School Library is a formidable task for any group, but Library Club members have done an excellent job of carrying out the various library activities. The librarians, Mrs. Cupp and Mrs. Brown, and the club members were greatly handicapped for the first portion of the year due to the renovation of the library. After the Christmas holidays, members began moving the library facilities from the auditorium, where previously materials had been stored, into the remodeled and expanded library. A good many man-hours were spent unpacking the books, dusting them, and placing them on the right shelves.

Each second and fourth Wednesday of every month, the Library Club holds its regular meetings to discuss club projects. Among the first projects was entering a Ringtoss and Lemon-Roll booth in the Harvest Festival in November. Club members added to the Christmas spirit of the school with a tree and lovely Christmas decorations in the library. Two other activities included cleaning Harrell Park and enjoying a club picnic.

Pep Club Generates School Spirit

Working out the many details of Homecoming decorations was one of the biggest projects assumed by the spirited Pep Club. Members decorated the stadium with crepe paper and prepared boxes of helium-filled balloons which were released before the Homecoming game started. A model football stadium, complete with players and Hurricane, was displayed in the office during Homecoming week. Pep Club members created interest during the football season by making signs for the Players of the Week. Other members served on the Basketball Homecoming Committee and made signs which generated spirit among students with their colorful slogans and illustrations while the basketball season was in progress.

Participating in the Harvest Festival, the Pep Club operated the Tangerine Lounge, which provided music and entertainment for the students. During February, the Pep Club supervised the choice of elementary school cheerleaders. Carrying out their plans to create more interest in basketball and track, they made use of appropriate signs and decorations. Participation in the door decoration contest was one of the Pep Club's Christmas projects.

Doris Edmonds, President; Bobby Marcum, Vice-President; and Debbie Rouse, Secretary and Treasurer, make plans for improving school spirit.

Darlene Austin, Tommy Folsom, Francie Folsom, Doris Edmonds, and Rusty Sentelle concentrate on finishing one of the many Pep Club signs.

Bowling League Encourages Self-Improvement

Bowling League members find a different spirit of competition through bowling, a sport enjoyed by many people. Competing with each other as well as challenging one's own ability builds the character and leadership of the League members. In order that all members might participate each week, the meeting date was changed this year from 4:00 P. M. Monday to 4:00 P. M. Tuesday. The site of the League competition is the West End Lanes.

School activities have also challenged Bowling League members. For their annual club clean-up project, members vigorously cleaned the school's main office, the smaller inner office, and Mr. Pemberton's office. On November 11, the Bowling League entered a booth in the annual Harvest Festival held in the Talley-Ward Building.

Putting their talents to work in the main office are Earlene Cox, Sue Harmon, Nancy Collins, Terry Ferguson, and Nancy Witherell.

Office Assistants Perform Indispensable Jobs

The offices of Morristown High School are the center of activity each school day. Due to the indispensable work of forty-five capable assistants in the different offices, many office responsibilities are completed with efficiency and courtesy.

The main office requires many extra office girls who assist the administration and the administrative secretaries in many ways. Jobs performed by the girls include collecting absentee slips, delivering messages, and assisting Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Gratz.

The school bookstore is constantly buzzing with activity as students continually come to buy needed school supplies. The office girls who assist Mr. Weesner have the important responsibility of handling and selling these supplies.

Mrs. Thompson's office girls are in charge of distributing the daily absentee report to the teachers. Guidance office workers run errands and assist Mrs. Stambaugh, Mrs. Goddard, and Mr. Pearson in many other ways.

Team Spirit and Second Effor

Randall Irwin (43) shows second effort in receiving a first down pass against Young.

Once again the mighty "Big Orange" rolled through a very successful season. Although a rash of injuries occurred throughout the season, capable substitutes filled the vacancies effectively.

After a very convincing win over Knoxville East, the Hurricanes traveled to Johnson City, where they experienced their only conference loss. However, enthusiasm grew as the Hurricanes defeated their arch-rival—Kingsport Dobbyns-Bennett. On the road again, the Orangemen stopped the Fighting Cocks of Newport before returning home to trounce Knoxville Young.

A wet homecoming didn't dampen the team's spirit, for the Hurricanes proved too much for the Greeneville Green Devils. After successful encounters with Jefferson City and Bristol, the Hurricanes returned home to outscore the Elizabethton Cyclones. A victory at Erwin ended the 1967 season.

As a reward for their fine performance throughout the season, the Hurricanes received a bid to the Optimist Bowl in Knoxville on Thanksgiving Day. Although they played a determined game, the Orangemen fell to the Fulton High Falcons of Knoxville.

As a result of the many achievements of Head Coach Burleigh Davis, he was chosen as East Tennessee Coach of the Year in a poll conducted by the Knoxville Journal and was, therefore, presented a rotating trophy which he will keep one year.

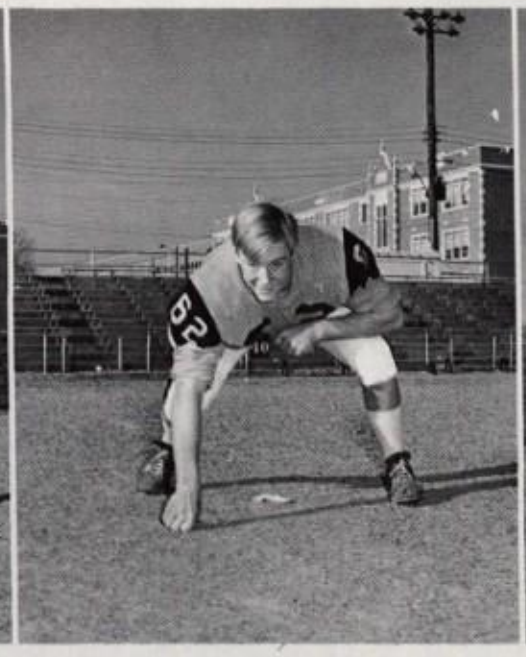
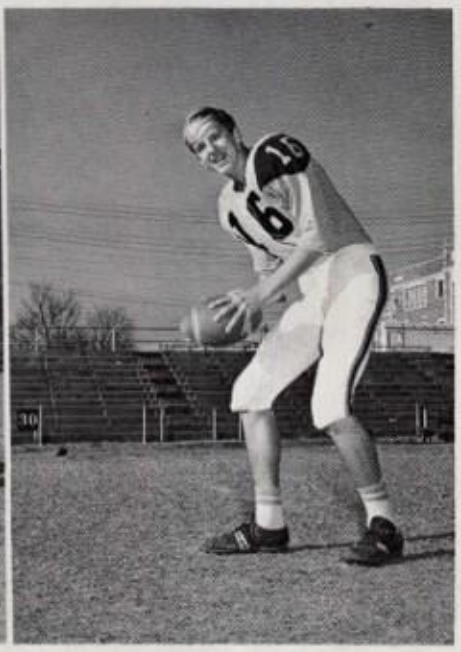
Seniors Display Leadership





MIKE LAUGHTERS #14. Mike displayed good speed and agility although he was hampered by injuries part of the year. Mike was an experienced yardage gainer.

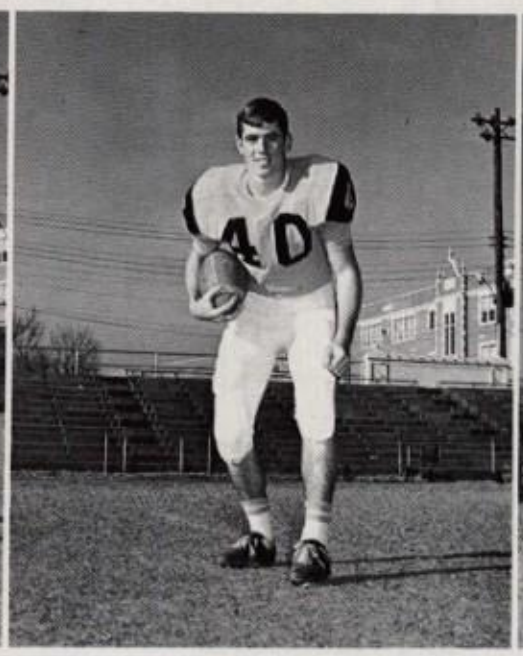
RICHARD CARTER #62. Richard, a solid defensive player, achieved Player of the Week honors at the Greeneville game. As a fine guard he could open holes in the opponent's line.

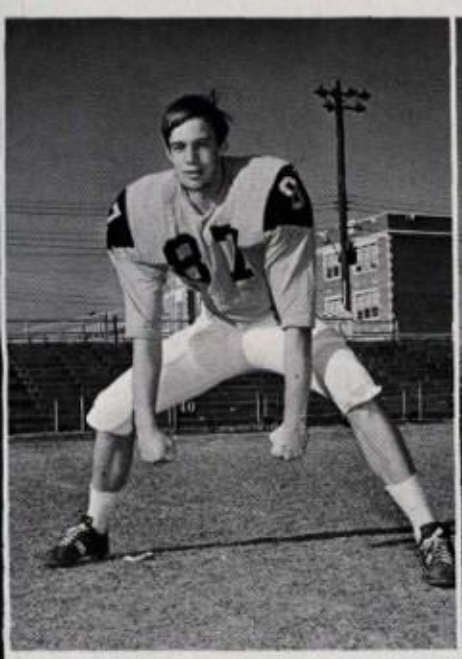
BOBBY MARCUM #16. Filling the signal-caller position, Bobby earned Player of the Week honor in the Johnson City game. His attitude toward winning proved inspirational to the team members.

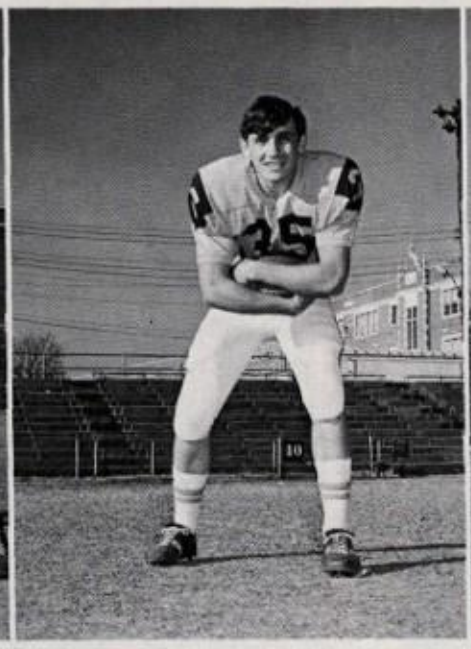
BILLY HORTON #52. Because of his fine play all year, Billy was awarded Player of the Week in the Kingsport game, All-Conference, All-East Tennessee team and was also elected captain of his team.

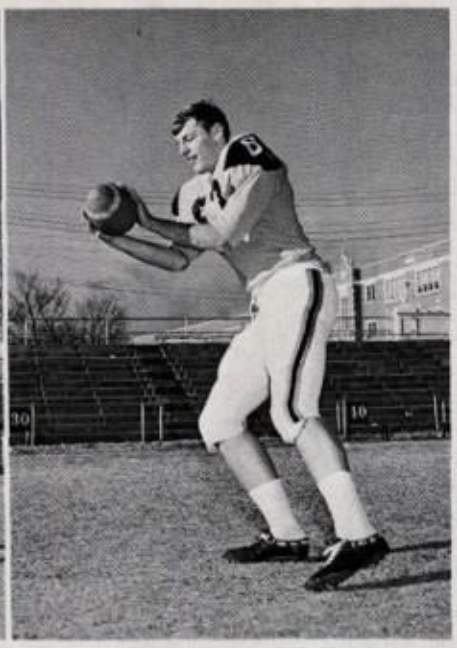
JOHN HALL #40. John was named Player of the Week for his fine play at the Jefferson City game and was elected to the All-Conference team. John was elected Most Valuable Player by his teamates.

BILLY ADAMS #21. Billy has been a true asset to the team playing many positions.









JOHN BAXTER #87. Latching onto the ball often, "Big John" earned Player of the Week for the Bristol game. He showed team spirit through the year.

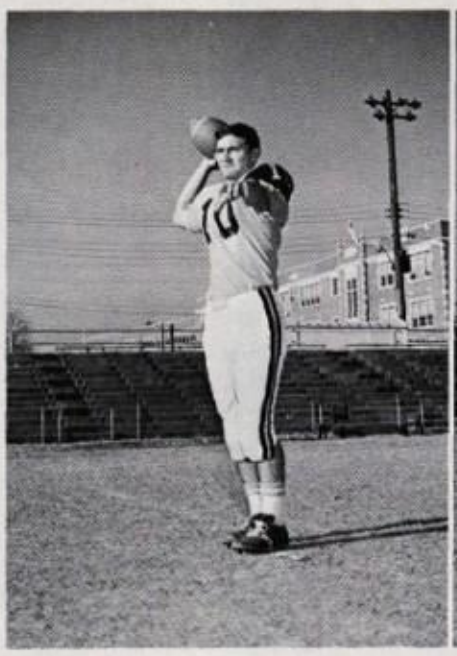
BILLY SHOCKLEY #35. As a hard-hitting player, Billy could be called on whenever he was needed to give the Hurricanes a boost.

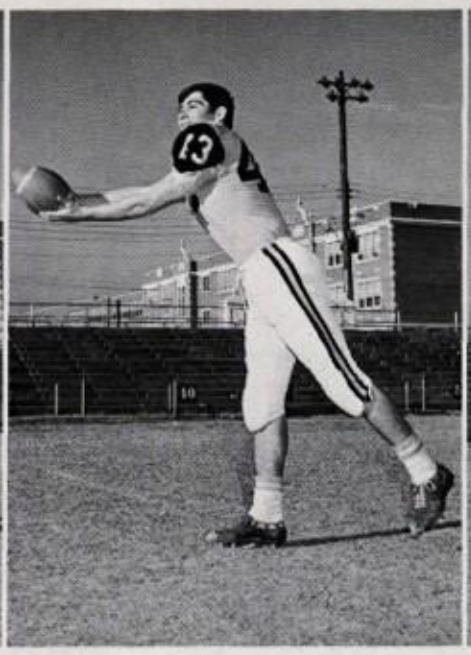
ALLAN JONES #83. Because of his size, Allan was able to fill several positions. He was honored as Player of the Week for the Knox Young game and was elected to the All-Conference, All-East Tennessee and All-State teams.

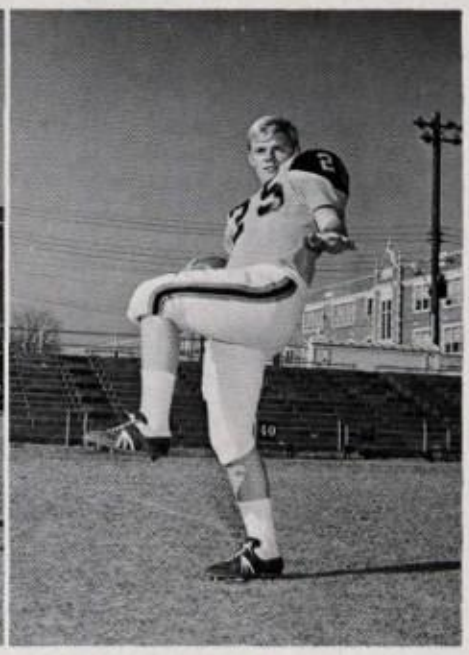
STEVE WATKINS #10. Although Steve was hampered with injuries during the season, he was a credit and inspiration to his team. For his performance during high school, he was given the Athletic Boosters Award.

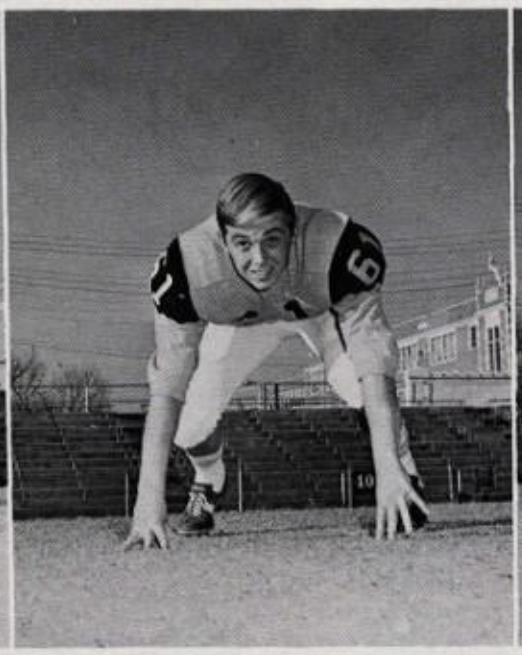
RANDALL IRWIN #43. Player of the Week for the Knox East game went to Randy for his fine effort and work. Randy has shown desire and enthusiasm in playing football.

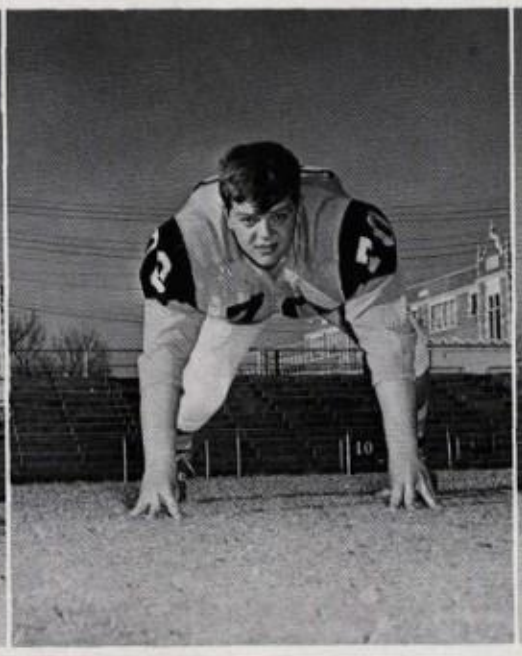
EDDIE PRICE #25. Eddie "The Bulldozer" was a hard runner who came up with yardage when it was needed. Eddie has filled the position of fullback with the desire to win.

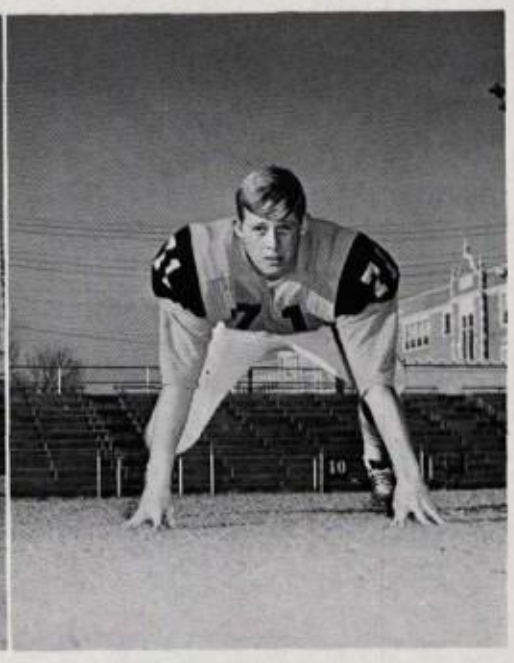












BOBBY INMAN #37. Bobby has proved to be a success at any position he plays. He has played a hard-hitting season for the Hurricanes.

CHUCK HICKS #61. Chuck, an experienced worker, has shown his capability in playing for the Hurricanes. Chuck has been a fine defensive player throughout the season.

MIKE PURKEY #70. Player of the Week for the Erwin game went to Mike along with All-Conference honors. Mike has kept the team's spirit up throughout the season.

LESLIE TOON #71. Desiring to excel, Leslie proved to be one of the most dependable offensive blockers of the team. Leslie was significant in the "Hurricane Wall."

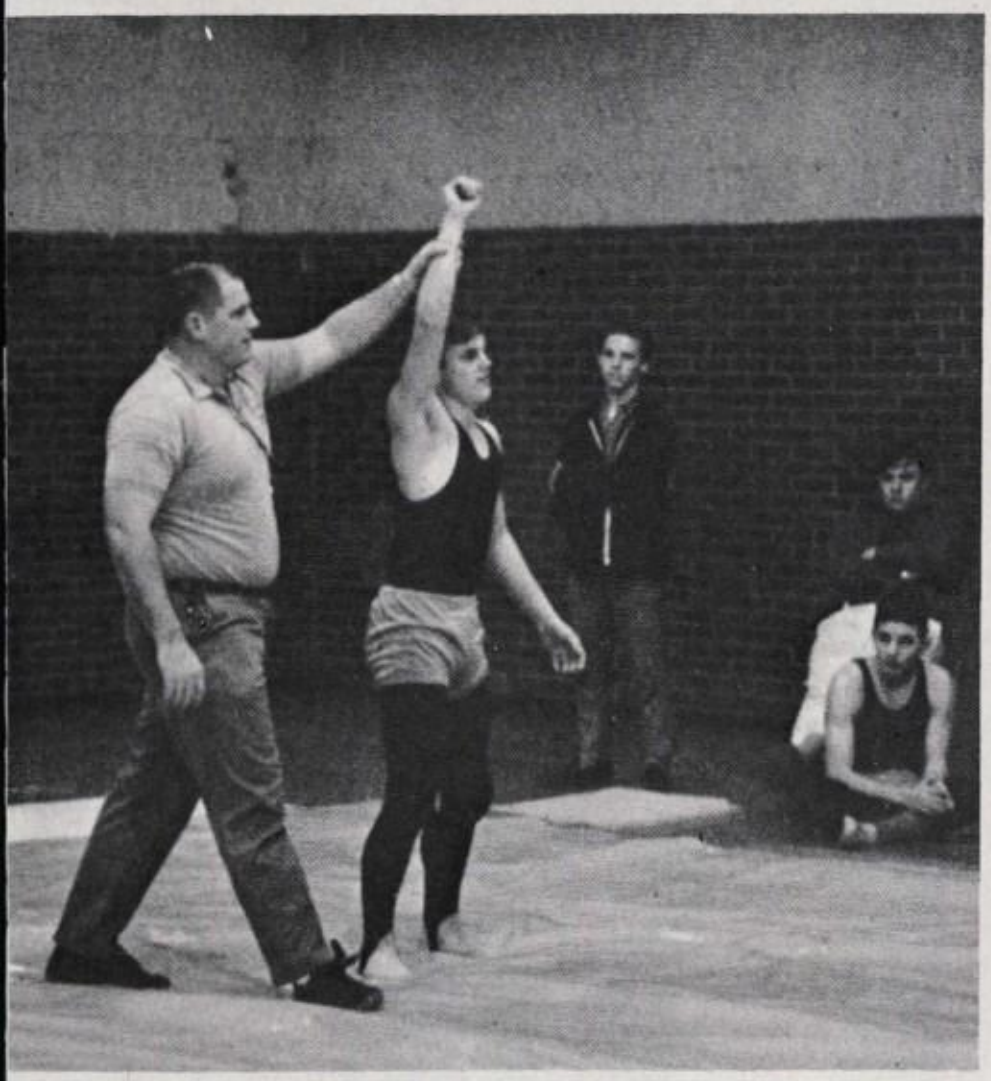
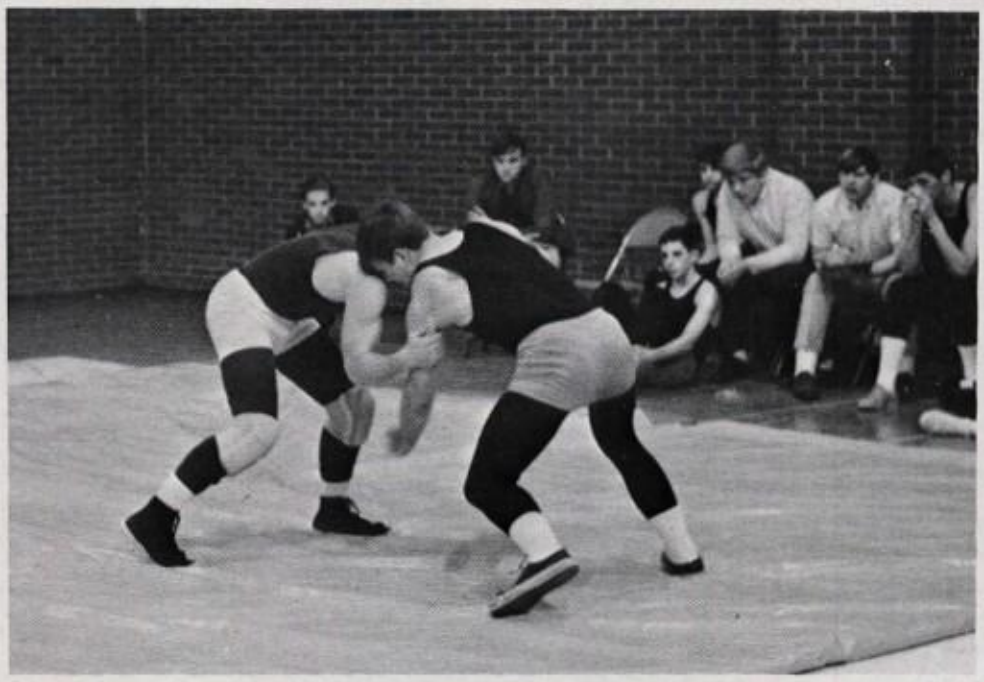
Wrestling Team Is Organized



Wrestling member Bruce Fields is declared the winner of a match.

An addition to the sports competition at Morristown High School is the newly-organized wrestling team. Coaches who worked diligently with the new organization were Mr. James Saulsbury and Mr. Dale Chrisman.

Uniforms, with orange shorts, black tights and tops, were ordered. With team enthusiasm growing, this new addition at Morristown High will hopefully expand and will become a popular athletic event.



Larry Dalton finds putting his opponent down is easier said than done.

Possession of the ball is undetermined as Buddy Ridley (52) jumps against the Kingsport center.

Stanley Wallace (14) gets the ball on the fast break to score two points against Bulls Gap.

Hurricanes Repeat as District Champs

The Morristown Hurricanes, with an excellent showing during the first half of the season, won six of their first nine games. Two of these victories were over Big Seven foes, Greeneville and Erwin. Two of the losses were to conference teams, Kingsport and Bristol. The only other two losses, both by close margins, came at the hands of Sevierville and Gatlinburg-Pittman.

During the Christmas Holidays, MHS traveled to McMinn County to participate in the Holiday Tournament held there. The first night proved successful as the Big Orange rolled past McMinn County. In the next night's action, Morristown battled to a victory over McMinn Central.

Competing in the Morristown Invitational, the Hurricanes defeated Hancock and Sevierville. Losing to Bulls Gap, MHS captured second place. Selected on the All-Tournament team were Hugh Clement and Victor Brown.

As the remainder of the season started, the Hurricanes finished the regular season play with six wins as opposed to eight losses. This completed Morristown's basketball season with 15 wins and 13 losses. The Big Seven Conference record revealed five wins and seven losses.

The Hurricanes won four games to capture the District IV crown for the second consecutive year. They then participated in the Regional I play at Kingsport where they beat Bulls Gap before losing an overtime battle to Cloudland.

The MHS Hurricanettes climaxed their season with 18 wins and 7 losses. In the middle of the season, our girls had 12 wins and only 1 loss. Due to this fine record, they were rated among the top ten teams in East Tennessee. Midway in the season they fell into a slump as they lost three consecutive district games.

Our girls defeated Maury this year, which was the first time in six years Maury had been beaten by a District IV team. Two other important victories were over highly rated Sevierville and Gatlinburg-Pittman. In the Morristown Invitational Tournament, the girls defeated Hancock, only to lose a close encounter to Sevierville in overtime. Lynn McClure, Brenda Jett, and Glenda Strange were chosen to the All-Tournament Team. They were also elected to the All-District Team. Coach Bill Keezel was chosen unanimously as "Coach of the Year" by his fellow district coaches.

After taking third place in the District IV Tournament, the Hurricanettes advanced to the Regional Tournament where they captured second place. Our girls then traveled to Jackson where they participated in the State Tournament—the first time for an MHS team.

Our Track team has succeeded in establishing an enviable winning tradition. Whether competing in a relay, high jump, pole vault, or discus throw, the members always give their best effort.

In dual competition meets last spring, the Track team defeated Oak Ridge, Knox Central, Knox South, and Johnson City. Only Webb High School was able to hold the Hurricanes to a tie. Ratings in the Big Seven Conference revealed that the Hurricanes finished in third place.

The two-mile relay team broke the school and the Big Seven Conference records with a time of 8:11:4 at the News-Sentinel Relays in Knoxville.

Ronnie Beene, David Brooks, Bobby Marcum, and Donnie Beene are the members of the two-mile relay team.

Cross Country Places Fourth in State Meet

Distinguishing features between a track team and a cross country team reveal that competing in cross country events requires not only speed, but also plenty of endurance. The Hurricane runners demonstrated their proficiency in track by achieving many honors.

Competing in Kingsport on November 2, they placed second in the Big Seven Conference. Traveling to Johnson City, they took second position in the Regional Meet. The MHS Cross Country team then competed in the State Track meet in Nashville, November 18. There the members captured the number four spot in the state.

Although getting off to a slow start, the MHS Golf Team won three of their four matches. During the season, the team lost only one match to Rogersville. Our golfers went to the Regional Tournament, where they placed in second position. Sponsor Anthony Eckel, along with the professional guidance of Fred Brown, gave valuable assistance to the 1967 MHS Golf Team.

Representing the 1967 Hurricane Golf Team in the State Tournament was golfer Bobby Bray. Bobby is now attending the University of Tennessee on the first golf scholarship given to a graduate of Morristown High School. The students of MHS are very proud of the achievement of the entire golf team.

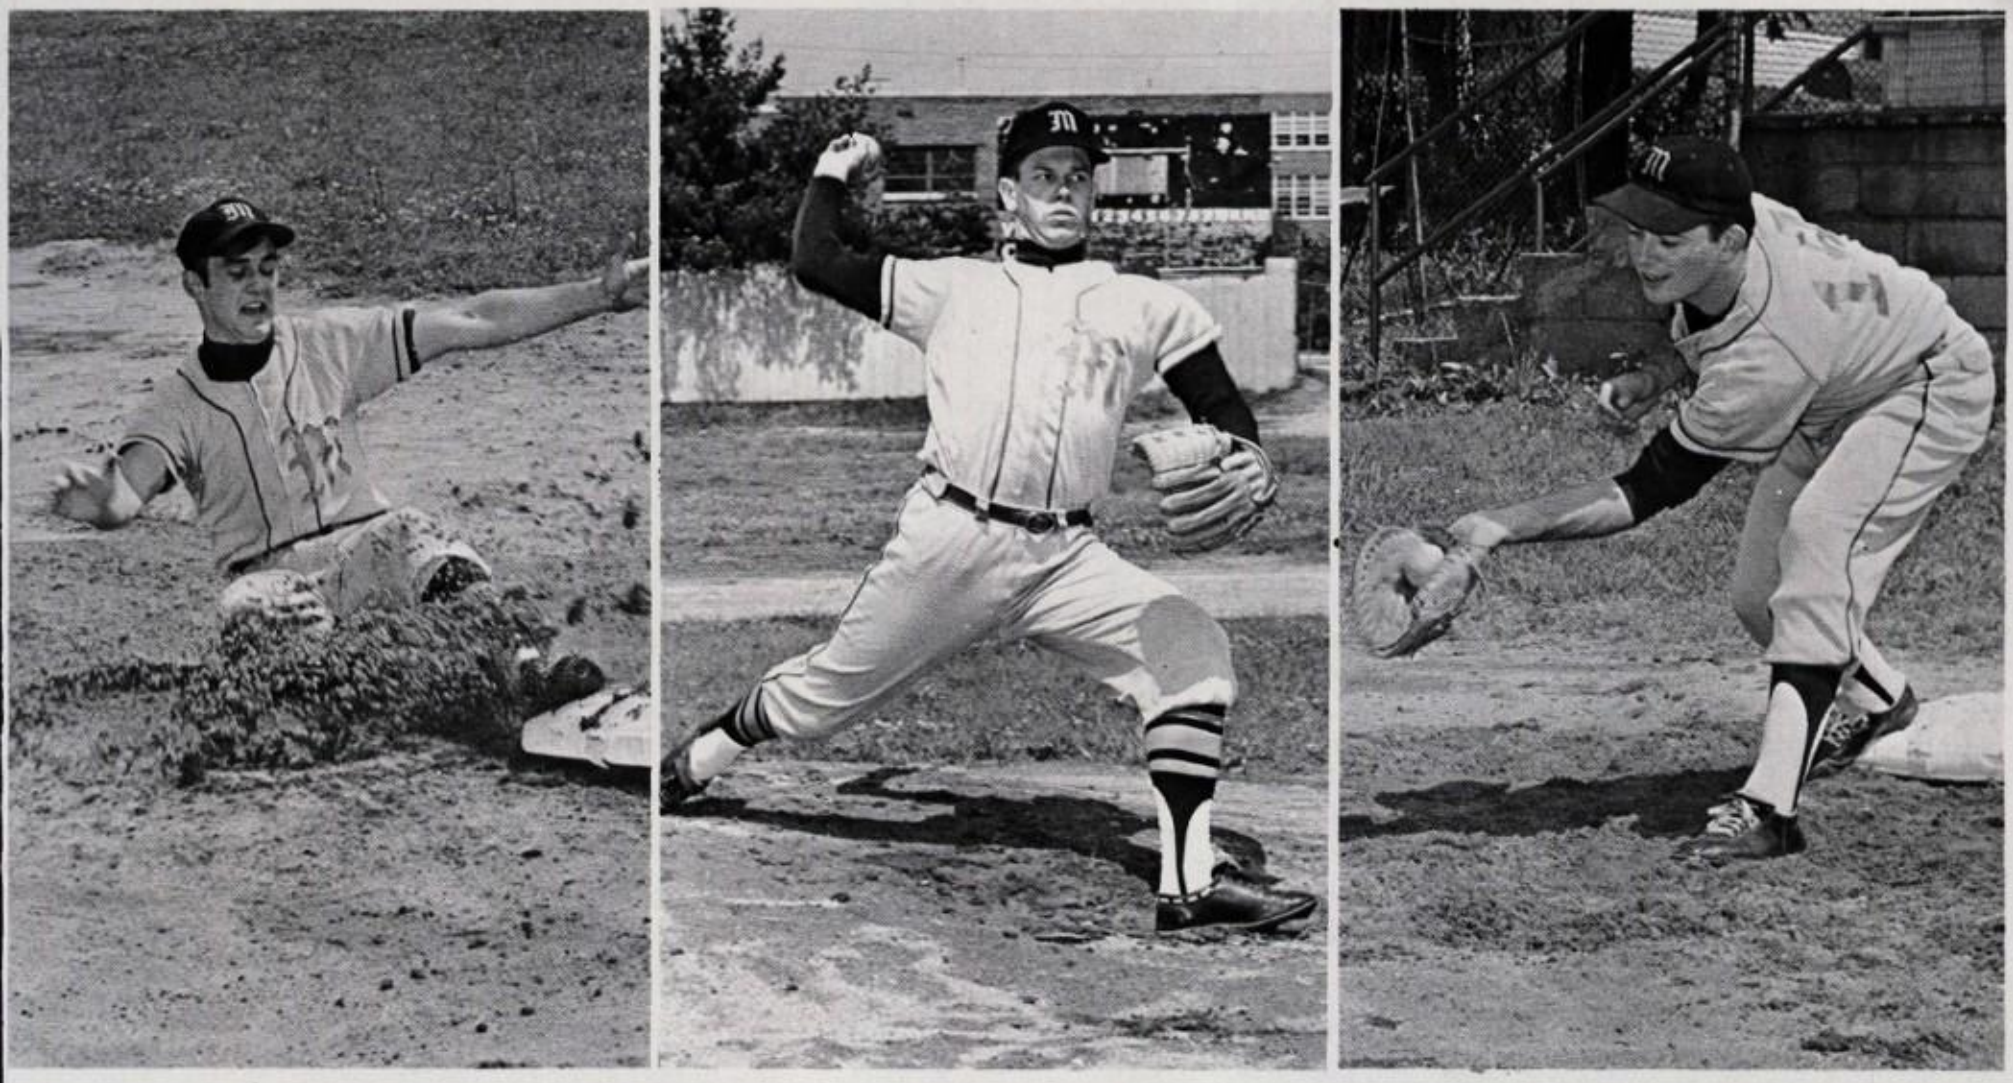
Team Co-Captains Doug Hamilton and Roger Jarnigan discuss former Hurricane teams and their accomplishments.

Although the 1967 baseball record didn't show all victories, the worn leather on the gloves and the broken bats proved that the Hurricanes played each game with the desire to win.

Beginning the season with three very convincing wins, another seemingly great season began for Coach Keezel and his team. However, there was then a prolonged slump as the Hurricanes lost four consecutive Big Seven Conference games. During the last eight games, Morristown managed to win only two Big Seven encounters. Competing in the District Tournament, the team was defeated by Rutledge in a very close game.

Coach William B. Keezel and Baseball Sweetheart Lynn Cosson admire the trophies won by previous MHS teams.



Seniors David Edmonds, Bobby Bruce, and Mike Helton display the type of techniques used in the game of baseball.

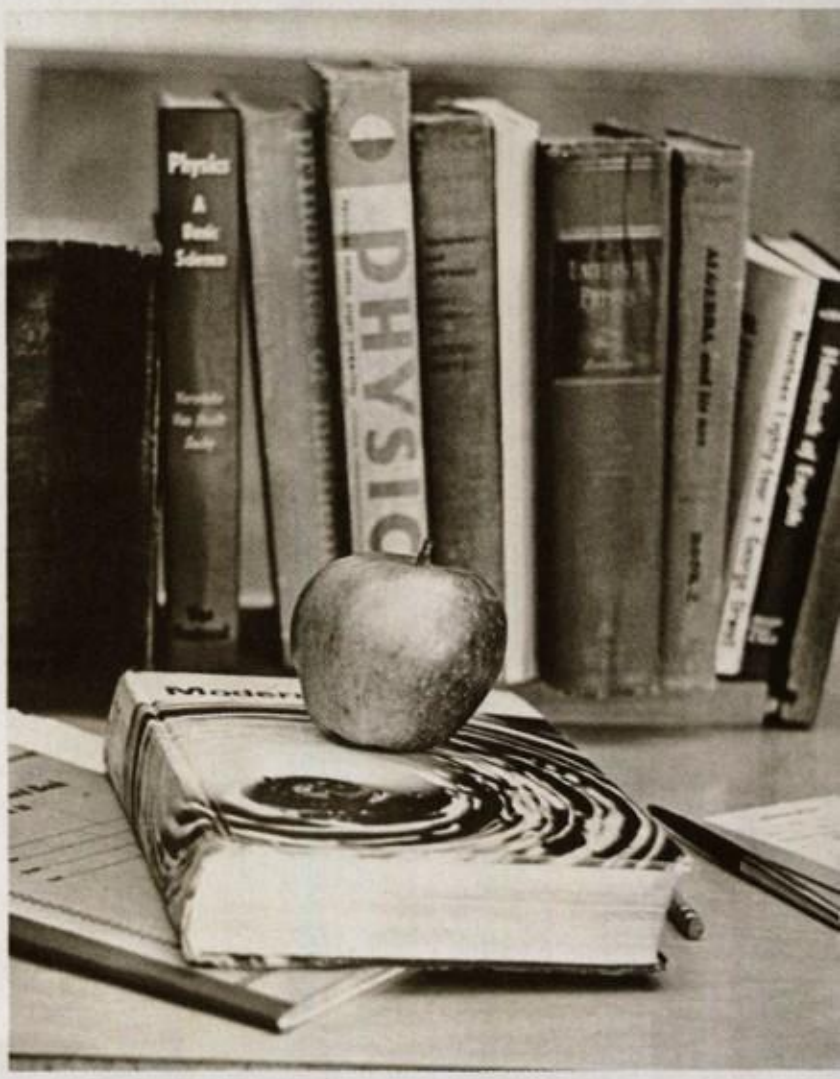
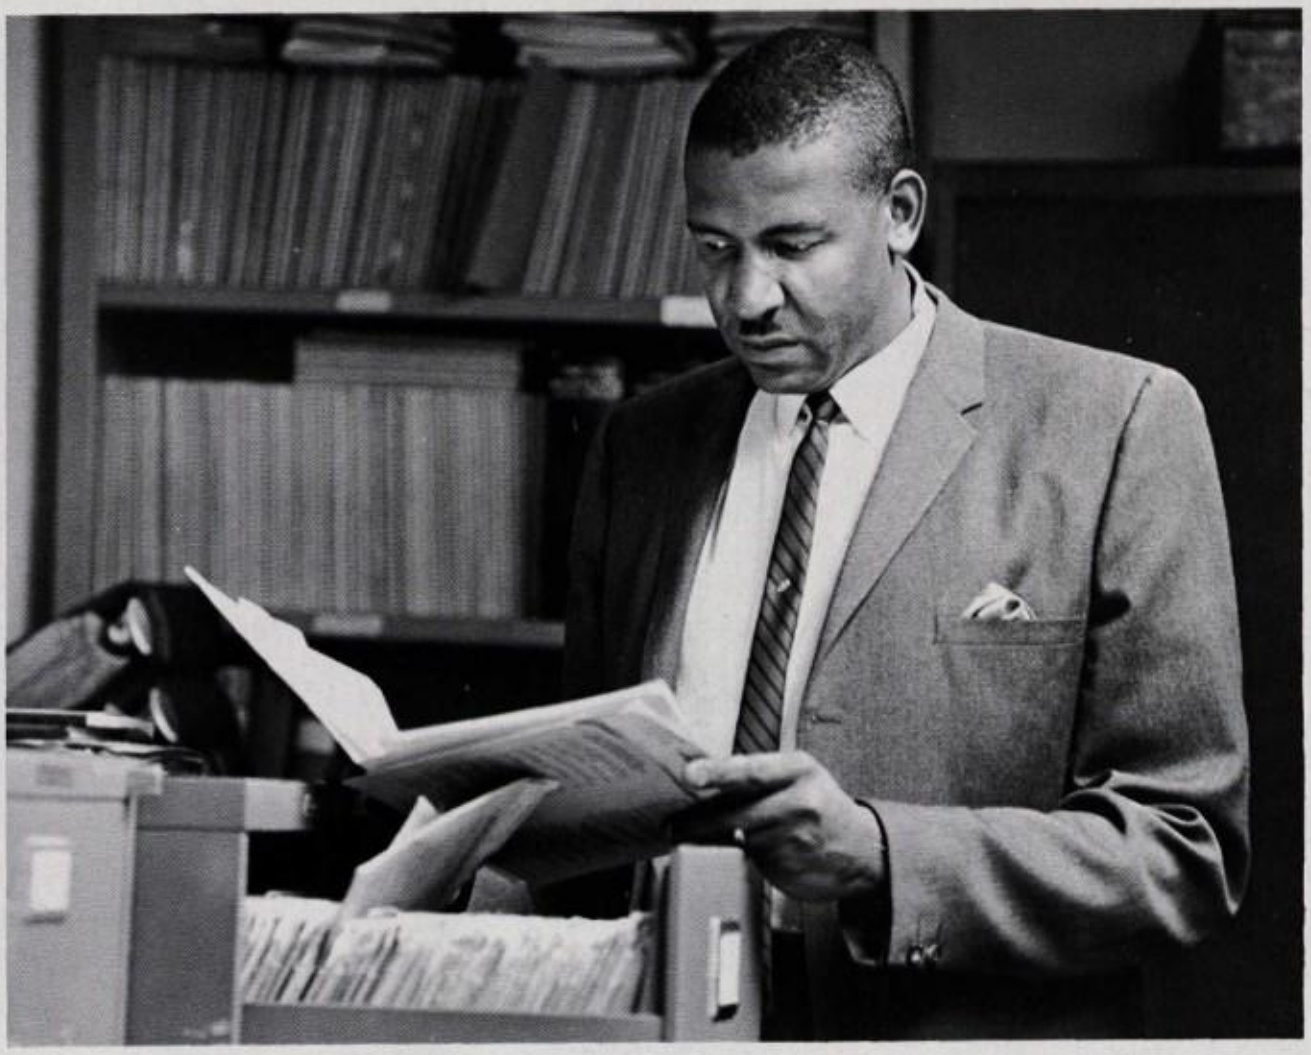
Administration and Faculty





EDITOR:
Janice Davis

Administration Increases in Number

Mr. Charles H. Strange, Principal, discusses MHS regulations with a student.

Morristown High School is evaluated each decade by a committee from the Southern Association of Secondary Schools. However, due to the unfinished renovations of our school, the ten-year evaluation has been postponed until next year. Nevertheless, the faculty, which has already been divided into committees and subcommittees, is continuing an intensive self-evaluation program. Comprising eleven committees, the faculty express sincere opinions on the educational program of the high school and suggest possible changes which may improve the program. These faculty members dedicate unselfish service and excessive time and attention in order to find a means of challenging the excellent students and interesting the average ones.

A favorable result from the evaluation is necessary for MHS to remain an accredited school. Since the establishment of standards for secondary schools has been a gradual process, the search continues for discovering favorable characteristics in an expanding educational system and for securing a sound appraisal of Morristown High School.

Mr. S. A. Cain, Assistant Principal, reaches for his daily mail (above); Mr. Jack Pemberton, Assistant Principal, looks for a student's schedule (middle); and Mr. Murrell Weesner, Assistant Principal, sells a workbook to a pupil.

The Morristown School Commission members, sitting: Hiram H. Jones; Russell Fisher, Secretary; Roy S. Oakes; Carl T. Vance, Superintendent of Morristown City Schools; and Richard N. Hart. Standing: Lawrence W. Whalen; Tracy W. Prater, Jr., Chairman; Joe Q. Dougherty, Vice-Chairman; William C. Jones; and William O. Helms.

Teacher's aides Mrs. Ed Taylor, Mrs. Howard Malone, Mrs. I. Lester Cohen, and Mrs. James Gratz carry out their many duties.

With the addition of four new members, the Morristown School Commission now numbers nine members. In helping to share the burden of the growing complexities of administering the Morristown City School System, the Commission works with the individual schools and the Superintendent to provide regulations governing the operations and standards of the schools.

In each of the various MHS departments teachers aides contribute to better teaching efficiency by performing some of the non-instructive chores of many teachers.

Fine Arts Stress Creativity

Additional storage space and display areas have made it worthwhile for the Art Department to change classrooms. Through many activities stressing the use of various expressive media, art challenges the creative power of the students.

Under capable direction, the MHS chorus program offers active participation to those genuinely interested in improving their voices and learning more about choral singing. Chorus students in the MHS Concert Choir display their vocal abilities at various programs during the school year.

Band I and II are offered to those students desiring to improve and train their instrumental music abilities. During football season Band I students perform as a marching unit at half time.

Business Education Provides Varied Skills

Business Education provides Typing, Shorthand, Clerical Practice, Bookkeeping, and General Business classes for students desiring to learn proper business and secretarial skills for future office employment or personal use. These courses are designed in order that students may develop the knowledge, skills, habits, attitudes, and ideals necessary for successful advancement in business. Capable and interested students are also assisted in planning and preparing for further education leading toward management and professional business positions.

Charts, records, and filmstrips are also employed as aids in teaching students to think quickly and clearly. The addition of new electric ten-key adding machines help to make teaching methods more effective.

Miss Virginia Hodges, in going through the contents of her cabinet, finds a manual which will come in handy in General Business.

English Promotes Clear Communications

Mrs. Conkin tries to convince David Mason that her English book has just as many pages as his.

MHS provides a diversified English program, consisting of courses and activities planned to develop the skills of reading, writing, listening, and speaking—all of which are essential to the students in their personal, social, and occupational life. Linguistic emphasis in the classroom is placed on accuracy and comprehension in reading, clarity and fluency in speaking, and logical arrangement and effectiveness of ideas in writing.

Once again, an advanced English IV course is being offered for the benefit of those seniors who plan to attend college. In the regular classes, every effort is made to relate English to a wide range of experiences—curricular, vocational, and social. The study of English is also enriching the lives of MHS students by providing them with experiences in creative expression, reading, and dramatization.

As her class busily labors through a test, Miss Kilgore grades a stack of daily homework papers.

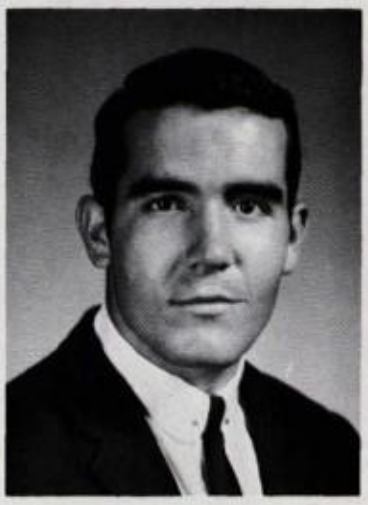
Driver's Education Teaches Safety

Judy Taylor listens as Coach Chrisman explains the importance of seat belts to the class.

Changing tires, learning proper braking techniques, turning corners, and mastering control of a moving vehicle are a few of the learning experiences involved in Driver's Education. Actual practice driving is supplemented with classroom instruction dealing with driver attitudes, rules of the road, maintenance of the automobile, good pedestrian practices, and the development of driving skill. An important function of the program is impressing upon the student the importance of showing courteous consideration for other drivers and for pedestrians. The aforementioned skills are taught with the explicit purpose of helping pupils to learn to use automobiles safely and efficiently.



Mr. Dale Chrisman

Foreign Languages Inspire World Interest

Kathy Callicutt listens closely as Mrs. White explains the conjugation of a difficult French verb.

Carl Storms and Carolyn Pratt admire the lovely sarape Mrs. Brown shows to her Spanish class.

To meet the present demand among the students for a diversified foreign language program, the Foreign Language Department is continually expanding to include a variety of linguistic opportunities. French, a new addition to the department this year, has been added to Latin, Spanish, and German. Through these courses, students are offered a chance to read, write, speak, and understand a language other than their own. Also, with the utilization of tape recorders, films, and records, the languages are related to pupils in order that they may achieve a gradually expanding and deepening knowledge of all cultural aspects of a foreign language.

Modern Math Offers New Challenges

Teaching Modern Mathematics this year is a curricular innovation of the Mathematics Department. This curricular addition, along with the other courses, provides an extension of general and special mathematics, both of which contribute to the present and probable future educational, vocational, and cultural needs of the student. The Department stresses understanding in the fundamental process of computation, ability in the problem-solving method of many computational situations, and insight into the basic structure of mathematics. The curriculum includes concepts upon which scientific and technical progress may be advanced.

Mrs. Brummitt advises Barbara Edwards to follow the example in her math book.

Library Expands

Extensive renovations of the library have almost tripled the previous amount of space available. The remodeled area also includes an audio-visual department with materials and equipment, three conference rooms, and a library classroom with a movable partition. Another welcome improvement is the installation of air conditioning.

In addition to the renovations, many new materials have also been added. The new equipment includes record players, projectors, an electric typewriter, four projector carts, and a hand vacuum cleaner.

Mrs. Charles E. Brown

Mrs. Harry Cupp

Mrs. Brown and Brenda Holt find that refilling the bookshelves in the newly renovated library is a tedious, time-consuming job and welcome Mrs. Cupp's assistance in completing the task.

Guidance Assists College-Bound Students

Mrs. Paul Goddard

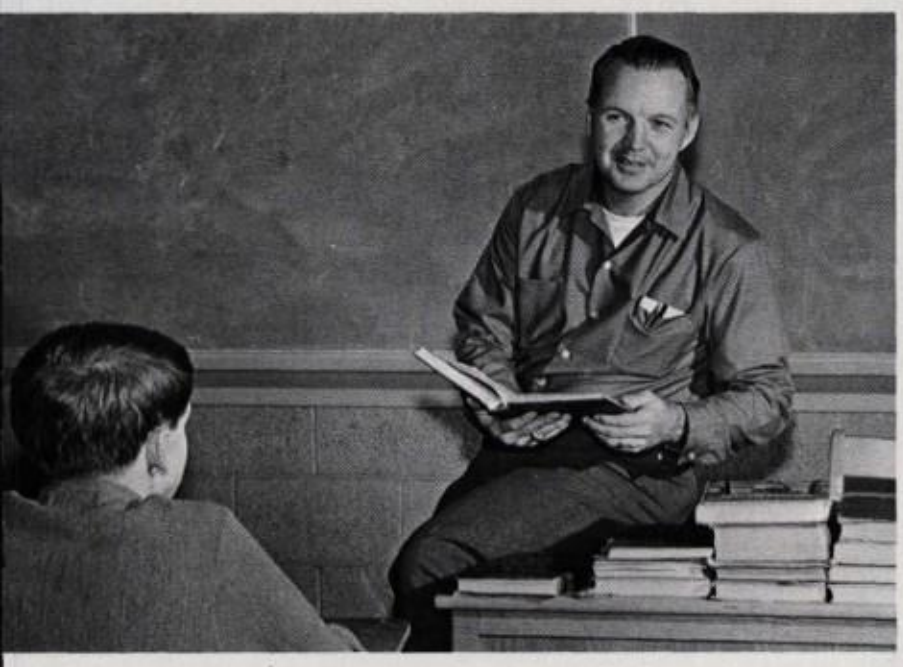
Mr. Kenneth Pearson

Mrs. Jim W. Stambaugh

Services provided by the Guidance Department are organized to give the student continuous assistance in knowing himself as an individual, in making the most of his abilities, in correcting limitations, and in relating this information realistically to his needs and potentialities. Many pupils are utilizing the services provided by the guidance counselors and equipment. For example, a student may enlist aid in college selection from the College Entrance Viewdeck, which was purchased this year, as were the new filmstrips.

Mrs. Goddard explains the use of the College Entrance Viewdeck, which is a new feature of the Guidance Department, to Larry Hurst and Jane Litz.

Physical Education and Health Emphasize Fitness



While discussing mental health, Mr. Saulsbury asks the class a question.

Health Education at Morristown High is required of all seniors for graduation. The course promotes the development of knowledge, attitudes, and practices necessary to meet present and future health needs.

In Physical Education, students are encouraged to develop coordination, strength, skill, and endurance through participation in various activities, including calisthenics, tumbling, volleyball, soccer, basketball, softball, and table tennis. Each class session lasts one hour and meets from two to three times a week. Students are required to take at least three years of Physical Education.

Industrial Arts and Co-op Provide Experience

Mechanical drawing and machine shop constitute Industrial Arts. Some of the skills taught in machine shop include shop math, blueprint reading, and recognizing the characteristics of metals. During the two-year course, the boys spend three hours each school day learning to operate milling machines, lathes, and drill presses; learning to use the shaper; and learning to do welding.

A co-operative work-study program is available to students desiring both vocational training and a high school diploma. Several students work at the local newspaper offices and hospitals.

Mr. Glennon Brown confers with Co-op student Aurellia Treece about her progress in the past month.

To guide students in understanding the institutions and organizations of society and man's behavior as a result of influential economic, governmental, political, and social systems is the objective of our Social Studies Department.

From principles of history, economics, geography, sociology, and psychology, knowledge and ability for effective citizenship are acquired. The program instills within the student individual appreciation for the American heritage and the attitudes and conceptions that perpetuate a sound democracy. In order to apply them to the present and future, emphasis is placed on the rights and responsibilities learned from the past.

Science Department Acquires New Labs

Another of the many renovations made this year at MHS is the expanding of facilities in the Science Department. Greatly needed chemistry and physics labs have been fully equipped. The Department continues to offer a four-year science curriculum, including general science, biology, chemistry, and physics.

Morristown High, this year, has been the location of the new Regional Science Experience Center from Oak Ridge. This center is centrally located here as a distribution point for our use as well as other schools in the area. Morristown High holds a charter membership in the center.

Vocational Home Economics Instills Basic Domestic Skills

Typical sensory impressions emitted by the Home Economics Department at MHS are the aroma of an apple pie baking and the buzz of sewing machines. However, nutrition and sewing are only a few of the many different units taught in the three-year course. In correlating class experiences with their home life, the girls are encouraged to utilize principles learned in a personal health unit taught by the County Health Nurse and in the new Red Cross Care Unit.

Vocational Agriculture Offers Many Experiences

Doug Masengill watches while Mr. Ruth conducts an electrical experiment creating a magnetic field.

Mrs. Willie Branton, Mrs. Ethel Hopson, Mrs. Stella Ringley, and Mrs. Ruth Jones, MHS cafeteria personnel, prepare to serve for the third lunch period in the renovated cafeteria.

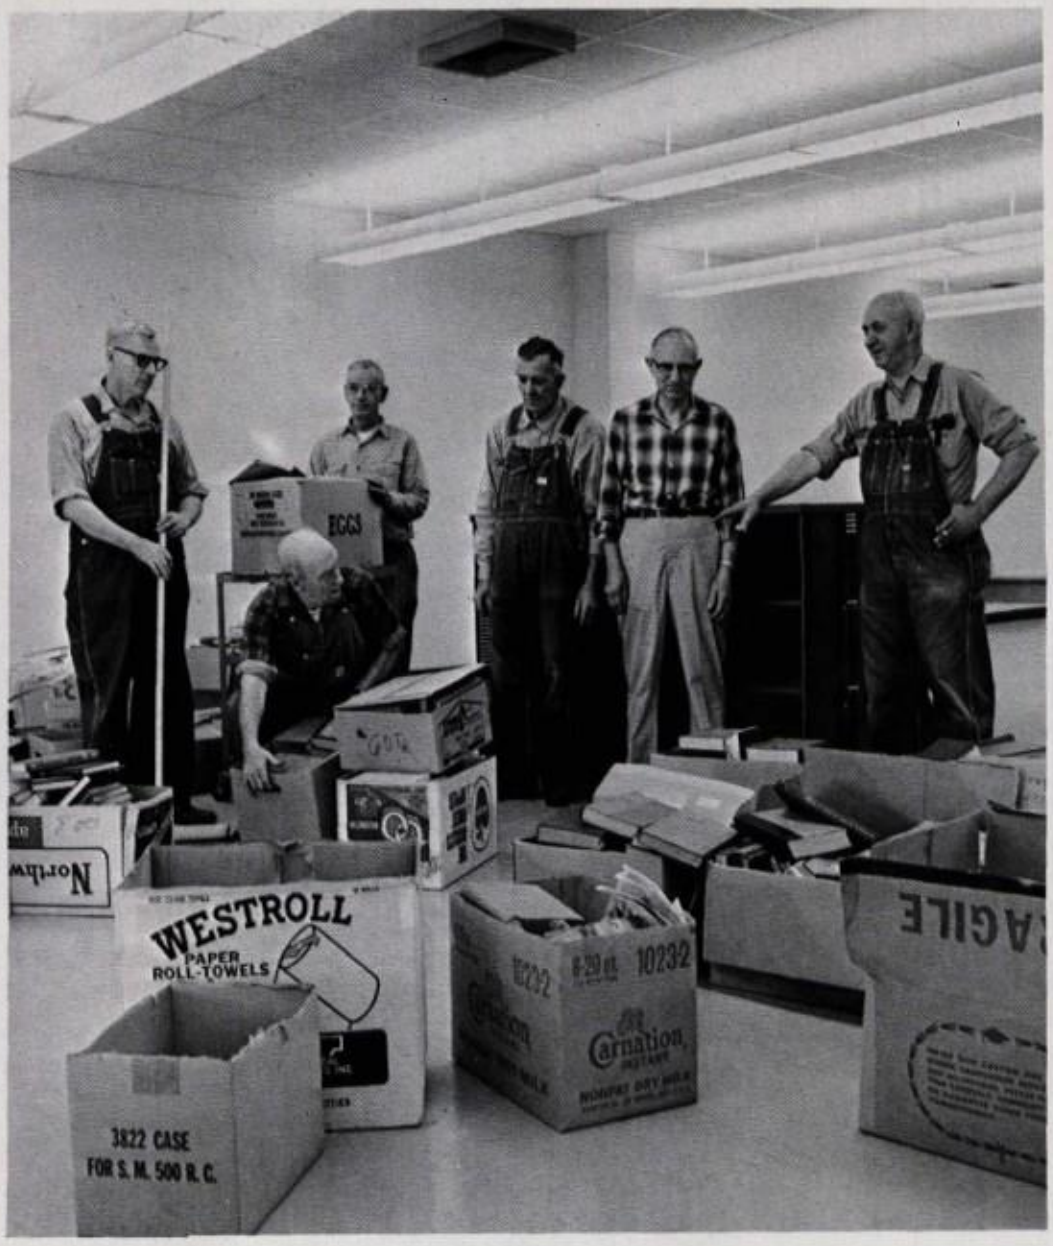
Included in the renovations at Morristown High School is the expansion of the School Infirmary. Three attractive, well-equipped rooms are now available to provide emergency care for sick or injured students. A full-time nurse whose duty is to give qualified first aid is also in attendance during school hours. A new counter with cabinets and a stainless steel sink, a cot, additional first-aid supplies, and a restroom are only a few of the new additions to the interior of the infirmary.

Another part of the expansion program is the enlarging and remodeling of the School Cafeteria. Changes include new windows, painting, acoustical ceiling, fluorescent lighting, and new furniture. Many of the changes are necessary in order for the cafeteria personnel to have adequate facilities for serving students.

One of the most important school services is the proper maintenance of the building by the custodial staff. Their job has been made especially difficult by the problems resulting from the intensive renovations of the building. Certainly we are, therefore, very grateful to these hard-working gentlemen.

School Services Prove to Be Valuable

Mrs. Beets, the school's full time registered nurse, administers first aid to Andrea Kilgore in the main office of the new infirmary.



Custodians Mr. W. H. Jarnigan, Mr. Joe Lawson, Mr. Robert Rines, Mr. Homer Long, and Mr. Lee Deal, under the supervision of Mr. Arthur Holder, assist in moving books into the newly renovated library.

This volume marks the beginning of a second half-century of yearbook publication at Morristown High School. Therefore, it is perhaps fitting that this yearbook reveals the various ways in which MHS students communicate with each other and with the rest of the world. The volume itself may be considered a means by which we Morristown High School students have attempted to be understood and a means by which we have attempted to portray graphically the teenage world which we understand. The 1968 ITAKHA—the "voice" of Morristown High School—has stressed the importance of communication through written and spoken words, emotions, and actions in our lives. It is our hope that the voice has "spoken" with clarity.

Acknowledgements

Mr. Chet Brogan

Mr. Brogan has spent many hours in producing photographs for the advertising section of the 1968 ITAKHA. We are most grateful to him for his constant effort.

Mr. Dave Kinton

Mr. Kinton, our local representative from Taylor Publishing Company, has served as an invaluable counselor in the development of the 1968 ITAKHA. His professional advice and his beneficial suggestions have greatly improved the quality of the yearbook. The staff is, therefore, deeply indebted to Mr. Kinton for his assistance.

Mr. Frank Litz

For many years, Mr. Litz has furnished the animals for the annual MHS Nativity Scene. On behalf of the senior class, we extend our sincere thanks to him for adding a realistic touch to our Christmas each year.

Mr. H. Evan McKinley

Mr. McKinley has devoted a tremendous amount of his time this year in order to produce many top-quality photographs for the 1968 ITAKHA. His expert work and tireless patience are sincerely appreciated by the entire staff.

Mrs. H. Evan McKinley

Working under crowded conditions, the 1968 ITAKHA staff has found Mrs. McKinley, the adviser, invaluable in its work. Her constant guidance, experienced advice, and hard work have been of great benefit to each member of the staff and of maximum importance in the publication of this volume. We are most thankful for her devotion to the ITAKHA and her friendship to us.

Mr. Ralph W. Sharpe

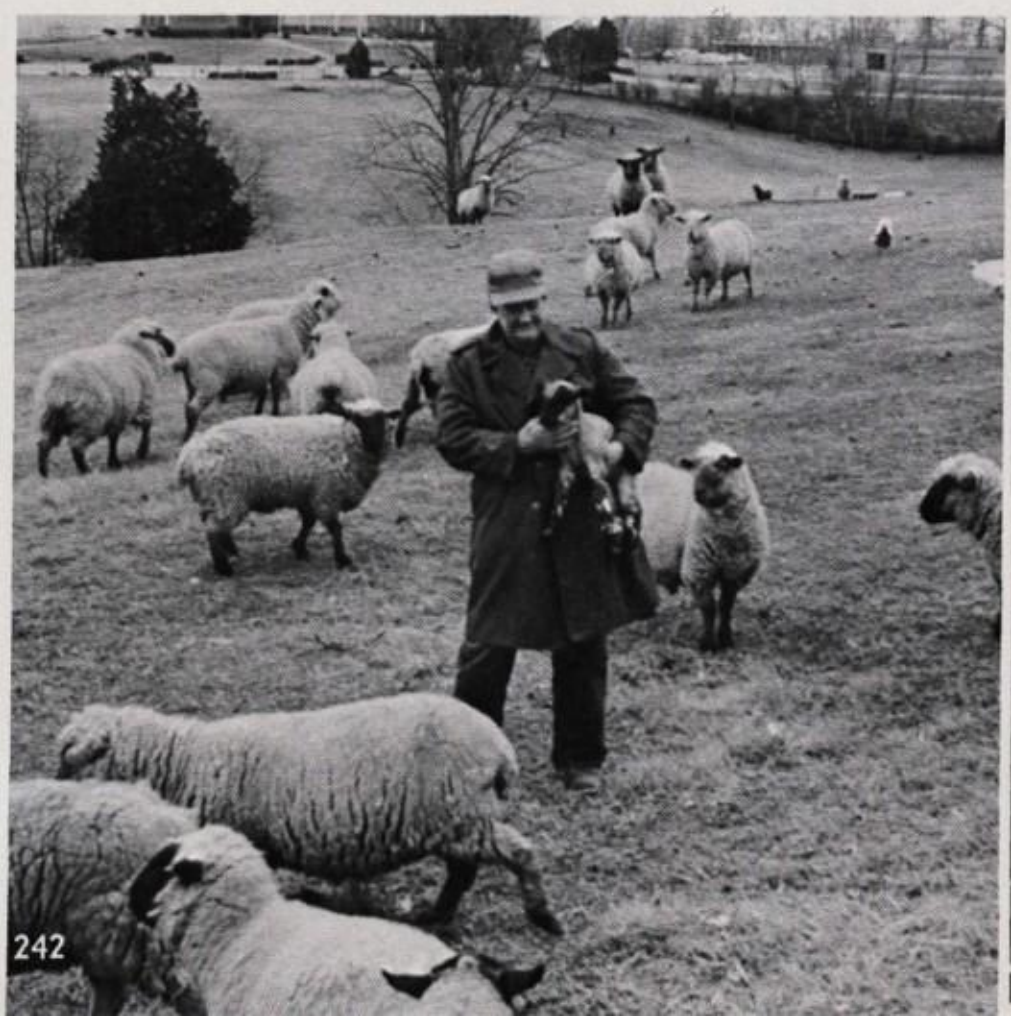
As editorial adviser to the ITAKHA staff, Mr. Sharpe has suggested textual emendations. For his skillful advice and daily cheerfulness, we are indeed grateful.

Mrs. Kyle Thompson

The 1968 staff is deeply grateful to Mrs. Kyle Thompson for her assistance. Her capable advice has been both beneficial to the staff and has also improved the quality of the 1968 ITAKHA.

The 1968 ITAKHA staff is also deeply indebted to the faculty members and students of MHS who have cooperated in the publication of this yearbook. We express our appreciation to all of you.

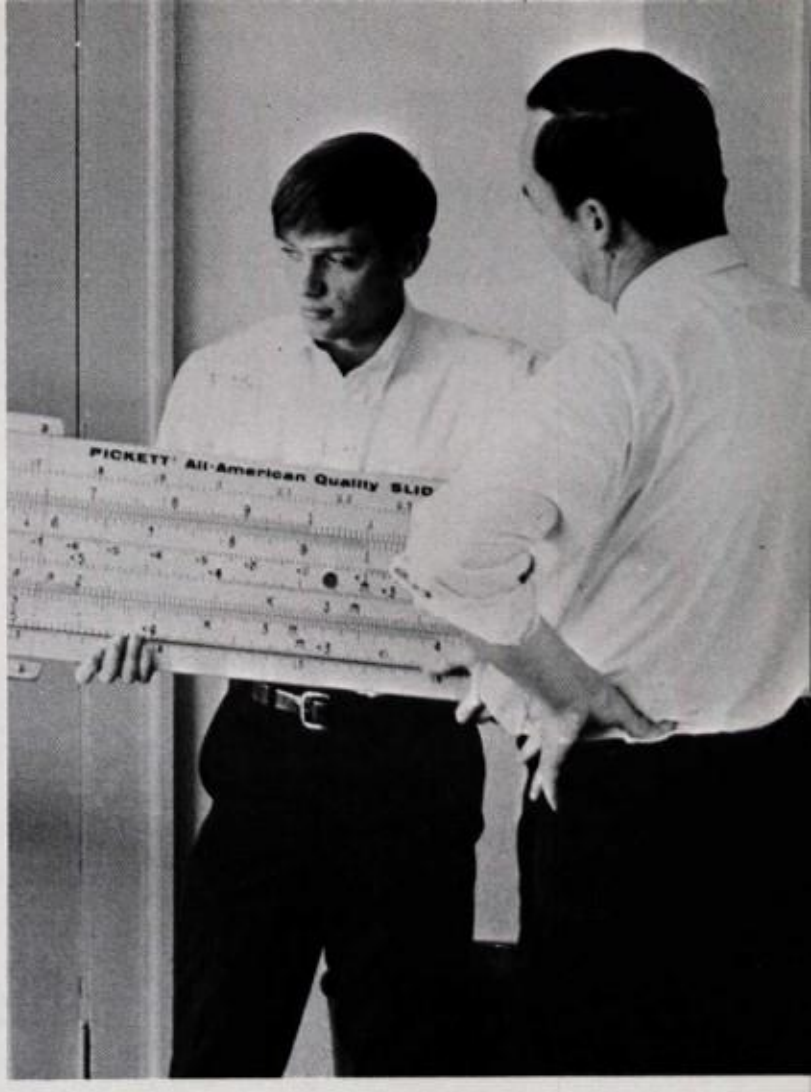
Mr. Frank Litz prepares to load his sheep along with other animals for the annual Morristown High School Nativity Scene.



After the 1968 Who's Who program, Mr. McKinley takes pictures for the ITAKHA as guests and students talk in the background.

Autographs

While taking club pictures for the annual, Ragena Walker tells Joe Whiteside, "I'm not always this miserable ... sometimes I'm even worse!"



"Maybe you can learn to use a slide rule now!" Mr. Keener says to Al Hodges.

"Oh! Mr. Pemberton, you get better looking every year," states Mrs. Roark as she glances through the new 1967 ITAKHA.

"How will I ever fix this?" wonders Carl Storms, the ITAKHA Staff photographer.

Coach Quarles stresses the use of the trajectory principle in shooting.
